Vanguard Global Minimum Volatility UCITS ETF

Managed by Vanguard Global Advisers, LLC

Investment Objective

Vanguard Global Minimum Volatility UCITS ETF seeks to provide long-term capital appreciation.

Performance Summary (unaudited)

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements. The ETF is actively managed and seeks to invest as described in the prospectus. The table shows how the fund's total return compares with the return of a market index that has investment characteristics similar to those of the fund.

- It was a challenging fiscal year. Amid easing concerns about global growth and trade tensions and continuing accommodative monetary policies across much of the world, a number of stock market indices climbed to record highs in February. Then as the coronavirus began to spread outside of China, many governments moved to shutter nonessential businesses and restrict trade and travel. That led to a swift and sharp downturn in global economic activity, especially in sectors requiring face-to-face interaction, and a spike in unemployment rates.
- Many central banks acted swiftly to limit the economic damage from the virus, slashing short-term interest rates, ramping up bond purchases to keep longer-term rates low and providing liquidity to financial markets. Governments atop the world's largest economies committed trillions of dollars in spending, loans and loan guarantees to blunt the pandemic's impact.
- Global stocks initially plummeted as large swaths of the economy closed. However, the unprecedented scale of the response from policymakers, the start of numerous trials for vaccines and treatments and the lifting of some lockdown restrictions in countries hit early on by the virus helped lift investor sentiment. Strength in US stocks helped offset declines in both developed markets outside the United States and emerging markets.
- The ETF invests primarily in US and foreign stocks. It seeks to achieve lower volatility than that of the global equities market, subject to a set of controls designed to foster portfolio diversification and liquidity. The investment adviser uses a quantitative model with a rules-based active approach that considers stocks' risk and diversification characteristics. These measures have been shown to be components of long-run stock market returns. The ETF seeks to hedge most of its currency exposure back to the US dollar to further reduce volatility.
- For the 12 months ended 30 June 2020, the ETF underperformed its benchmark index, which returned 3.19%. Three of the ten sectors contributed positively to relative performance, with an underweight to oil & gas helping results the most. An underweight to technology and selection in financials and consumer services detracted the most.
- Among countries, stock selection in the United States, which accounted for about half the ETF's holdings, detracted the most, while South Africa, Australia and France contributed the most.

All returns in the commentary above are in US dollars.

Vanguard Global Momentum Factor UCITS ETF

Managed by Vanguard Global Advisers, LLC

Investment Objective

Vanguard Global Momentum Factor UCITS ETF seeks to provide long-term capital appreciation.

Performance Summary (unaudited)

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements. The ETF is actively managed and seeks to invest as described in the prospectus. The table shows how the fund's total return compares with the return of a market index that has investment characteristics similar to those of the fund.

- It was a challenging fiscal year. Amid easing concerns about global growth and trade tensions and continuing accommodative monetary policies across much of the world, a number of stock market indices climbed to record highs in February. Then as the coronavirus began to spread outside of China, many governments moved to shutter nonessential businesses and restrict trade and travel. That led to a swift and sharp downturn in global economic activity, especially in sectors requiring face-to-face interaction, and a spike in unemployment rates.
- Many central banks acted swiftly to limit the economic damage from the virus, slashing short-term interest rates, ramping up bond purchases to keep longer-term rates low and providing liquidity to financial markets. Governments atop the world's largest economies committed trillions of dollars in spending, loans and loan guarantees to blunt the pandemic's impact.
- Global stocks initially plummeted as large swaths of the economy closed. However, the unprecedented scale of the response from policymakers, the start of numerous trials for vaccines and treatments and the lifting of some lockdown restrictions in countries hit early on by the virus helped lift investor sentiment. Strength in US stocks helped offset declines in both developed markets outside the United States and emerging markets.
- The ETF invests primarily in US and foreign stocks from developed markets that have higher momentum characteristics than those of the benchmark index. The investment adviser uses a quantitative model with a rules-based active approach that favours stocks with relatively strong recent performance. This is assessed in terms of both non-risk-adjusted and risk-adjusted returns over the short and intermediate terms. These measures have been shown to be components of long-run stock market returns.
- For the 12 months ended 30 June 2020, the ETF outperformed its benchmark index, which returned 1.92%. Five of the ten sectors contributed positively to relative performance. Selection in health care and financials and an underweight allocation to oil & gas helped the most, while consumer services, technology and industrials were the biggest detractors.
- Among markets, Canada and the United Kingdom contributed the most to relative performance. The United States, which accounted for about 60% of the ETF's holdings, was the biggest detractor.

All returns in the commentary above are in US dollars.

Managed by Vanguard Global Advisers, LLC

Investment Objective

Vanguard Global Value Factor UCITS ETF seeks to provide long-term capital appreciation.

Performance Summary (unaudited)

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements. The ETF is actively managed and seeks to invest as described in the prospectus. The table shows how the fund's total return compares with the return of a market index that has investment characteristics similar to those of the fund.

- It was a challenging fiscal year. Amid easing concerns about global growth and trade tensions and continuing accommodative monetary policies across much of the world, a number of stock market indices climbed to record highs in February. Then as the coronavirus began to spread outside of China, many governments moved to shutter nonessential businesses and restrict trade and travel. That led to a swift and sharp downturn in global economic activity, especially in sectors requiring face-to-face interaction, and a spike in unemployment rates.
- Many central banks acted swiftly to limit the economic damage from the virus, slashing short-term interest rates, ramping up bond purchases to keep longer-term rates low and providing liquidity to financial markets. Governments atop the world's largest economies committed trillions of dollars in spending, loans and loan guarantees to blunt the pandemic's impact.
- Global stocks initially plummeted as large swaths of the economy closed. However, the unprecedented scale of the response from policymakers, the start of numerous trials for vaccines and treatments and the lifting of some lockdown restrictions in countries hit early on by the virus helped lift investor sentiment. Strength in US stocks helped offset declines in both developed markets outside the United States and emerging markets.
- The ETF invests primarily in US and foreign stocks from developed markets that have higher value characteristics than those of the benchmark index. The investment adviser uses a quantitative model with a rules-based active approach that favours stocks with lower prices relative to their fundamental measures of value. These measures, including price/book and price/earnings ratios, estimated future earnings and operating cash flow, have been shown to be components of long-run stock market returns.
- For the 12 months ended 30 June 2020, the ETF underperformed its benchmark index, which returned 1.92%. All ten sectors detracted from relative performance. An underweight allocation to technology and selection in financials and consumer services hurt results the most. Positions in telecommunications held up better than those in other sectors.
- The United States, which accounted for about 60% of the ETF's holdings, detracted the most from relative performance. Australia contributed the most.

All returns in the commentary above are in US dollars.

Vanguard S&P 500 UCITS ETF

Investment Objective

Vanguard S&P 500 UCITS ETF seeks to track the performance of the Standard & Poor's 500 Index, a widely recognised benchmark of US stock market performance that is composed of the stocks of large US companies.

Performance Summary (unaudited)

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- It was a challenging fiscal year. Amid easing concerns about global growth and trade tensions and continuing accommodative monetary policies across much of the world, a number of stock market indices climbed to record highs in February. Then as the coronavirus began to spread outside of China, many governments moved to shutter nonessential businesses and restrict trade and travel. That led to a swift and sharp downturn in global economic activity, especially in sectors requiring face-to-face interaction, and a spike in unemployment rates.
- Many central banks acted swiftly to limit the economic damage from the virus, slashing short-term interest rates, ramping up bond purchases to keep longer-term rates low and providing liquidity to financial markets. Governments atop the world's largest economies committed trillions of dollars in spending, loans and loan guarantees to blunt the pandemic's impact.
- Global stocks initially plummeted as large swaths of the economy closed. However, the unprecedented scale of the response from policymakers, the start of numerous trials for vaccines and treatments and the lifting of some lockdown restrictions in countries hit early on by the virus helped lift investor sentiment. Strength in US stocks helped offset declines in both developed markets outside the United States and emerging markets.
- Global bonds experienced high volatility as well but produced solid returns for the period.
- In this environment, the ETF's benchmark index returned 6.87% for the 12 months ended 30 June 2020.
- Five of the index's 11 industry sectors posted positive results, led by information technology, consumer discretionary and communication services. Energy and financial stocks lost the most ground, eroding returns.

All returns in the commentary above are in US dollars.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* In tracking the performance of the index, the fund attempts to replicate the index by investing all, or substantially all, of its assets in the securities that make up the index, holding each in approximately the same proportion as its weighting in the index. The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor. Tracking difference in the table above is in percentage points.

<sup>1</sup> The return of the S&P 500 UCITS ETF is adjusted by 15% for the withholding tax on dividends paid by US securities. The return of the S&P 500 Index is adjusted by 30%.

These are defined as aggregate purchases of a security exceeding 1% of the total value of purchases for the year and aggregate disposals greater than 1% of the total value of sales. At a minimum, the largest 20 purchases and 20 sales must be shown; all purchases and sales must be shown if there are fewer than 20. A full listing of the portfolio changes for the year is available, upon request, at no extra cost from the Administrator.

Vanguard EUR Corporate Bond UCITS ETF

Managed by Vanguard Global Advisers, LLC

Investment Objective

Vanguard EUR Corporate Bond UCITS ETF seeks to track the performance of the Bloomberg Barclays Euro-Aggregate: Corporates Index, a widely recognised benchmark designed to reflect the total universe of publicly traded, fixed-coupon, euro-denominated, investment-grade corporate bonds with maturities greater than 1 year and a minimum issue size of €300 million.

Performance Summary (unaudited)

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- It was a challenging fiscal year. Amid easing concerns about global growth and trade tensions and continuing accommodative monetary policies across much of the world, a number of stock market indices climbed to record highs in February. Then as the coronavirus began to spread outside of China, many governments moved to shutter nonessential businesses and restrict trade and travel. That led to a swift and sharp downturn in global economic activity, especially in sectors requiring face-to-face interaction, and a spike in unemployment rates.
- Many central banks acted swiftly to limit the economic damage from the virus, slashing short-term interest rates, ramping up bond purchases to keep longer-term rates low and providing liquidity to financial markets. Governments atop the world's largest economies committed trillions of dollars in spending, loans and loan guarantees to blunt the pandemic's impact.
- Global stocks initially plummeted as large swaths of the economy closed, but they clawed back the gains made earlier in the period as investor sentiment brightened.
- Global bonds experienced high volatility as well but produced solid returns for the period. Liquidity in the bond markets eroded and yield spreads widened between corporates and Treasuries in March, as the outlook for the economy worsened. However, the unprecedented scale of the response from policymakers helped lift markets. For the period, US bonds performed better than their European and Asian counterparts.
- With European corporate bond yields low and their spread versus European Treasuries widening, the ETF's benchmark returned -0.42% for the 12 months ended 30 June 2020.
- Among the largest constituents in the index, Italy, Belgium and Switzerland held up the best, while Spain and France were among the laggards.
- By sector, bonds issued by utilities and financial institutions held up better than those issued by industrial companies. Higher-rated and longer-dated investment-grade bonds tended to perform best.

All returns in the commentary above are based in euros.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* In tracking the performance of the index, the fund attempts to replicate the index by investing all, or substantially all, of its assets in the securities that make up the index, holding each in approximately the same proportion as its weighting in the index. The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor. Tracking difference in the table above is in percentage points.

Vanguard EUR Eurozone Government Bond UCITS ETF

Managed by Vanguard Global Advisers, LLC

Investment Objective

Vanguard EUR Eurozone Government Bond UCITS ETF seeks to track the performance of the Bloomberg Barclays Euro-Aggregate: Treasury Index, a widely recognised benchmark designed to reflect the total universe of publicly traded, fixed-coupon, euro-denominated euro zone treasury securities with maturities greater than 1 year and a minimum issue size of €300 million.

Performance Summary (unaudited)

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- It was a challenging fiscal year. Amid easing concerns about global growth and trade tensions and continuing accommodative monetary policies across much of the world, a number of stock market indices climbed to record highs in February. Then as the coronavirus began to spread outside of China, many governments moved to shutter nonessential businesses and restrict trade and travel. That led to a swift and sharp downturn in global economic activity, especially in sectors requiring face-to-face interaction, and a spike in unemployment rates.
- Many central banks acted swiftly to limit the economic damage from the virus, slashing short-term interest rates, ramping up bond purchases to keep longer-term rates low and providing liquidity to financial markets. Governments atop the world's largest economies committed trillions of dollars in spending, loans and loan guarantees to blunt the pandemic's impact.
- Global stocks initially plummeted as large swaths of the economy closed, but they clawed back the gains made earlier in the period as investor sentiment brightened.
- Global bonds experienced high volatility as well but produced solid returns for the period. Liquidity in the bond markets eroded and yield spreads widened between corporates and Treasuries in March, as the outlook for the economy worsened. However, the unprecedented scale of the response from policymakers helped lift markets. For the period, US bonds performed better than their European and Asian counterparts.
- Despite a substantial amount of negative-yielding euro zone government debt, European Central Bank action helped the ETF's benchmark return 2.77% for the 12 months ended 30 June 2020.
- Among the countries with large weightings in the index, Italy stood out with a return of more than 6%. Austria and Belgium also outperformed, while Spain, Portugal and Germany were among the laggards.
- From a credit-quality perspective, bonds on the lowest rung of the investment-grade ladder significantly outperformed. By maturity, long-dated bonds returned the most.

All returns in the commentary above are based in euros.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* In tracking the performance of the index, the fund attempts to replicate the index by investing all, or substantially all, of its assets in the securities that make up the index, holding each in approximately the same proportion as its weighting in the index. The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor. Tracking difference in the table above is in percentage points.

The Central Bank of Ireland requires a schedule of material changes in the composition of the portfolio during the year. These are defined as aggregate purchases of a security exceeding 1% of the total value of purchases for the year and aggregate disposals greater than 1% of the total value of sales. At a minimum, the largest 20 purchases and 20 sales must be shown; all purchases and sales must be shown if there are fewer than 20. A full listing of the portfolio changes for the year is available, upon request, at no extra cost from the Administrator.

Vanguard Global Aggregate Bond UCITS ETF

Managed by Vanguard Global Advisers, LLC

Investment Objective

The Vanguard Global Aggregate Bond UCITS ETF seeks to track the performance of the Bloomberg Barclays Global Aggregate Float Adjusted and Scaled Index Hedged, a widely recognised benchmark designed to reflect the characteristics of the global aggregate bond universe.

Performance Summary (unaudited)

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- It was a challenging fiscal year. Amid easing concerns about global growth and trade tensions and continuing accommodative monetary policies across much of the world, a number of stock market indices climbed to record highs in February. Then as the coronavirus began to spread outside of China, many governments moved to shutter nonessential businesses and restrict trade and travel. That led to a swift and sharp downturn in global economic activity, especially in sectors requiring face-to-face interaction, and a spike in unemployment rates.
- Many central banks acted swiftly to limit the economic damage from the virus, slashing short-term interest rates, ramping up bond purchases to keep longer-term rates low and providing liquidity to financial markets. Governments atop the world's largest economies committed trillions of dollars in spending, loans and loan guarantees to blunt the pandemic's impact.
- Global stocks initially plummeted as large swaths of the economy closed, but they clawed back the gains made earlier in the period as investor sentiment brightened.
- Global bonds experienced high volatility as well but produced solid returns for the period. Liquidity in the bond markets eroded and yield spreads widened between corporates and Treasuries in March, as the outlook for the economy worsened. However, the unprecedented scale of the response from policymakers helped lift markets.
- For the 12 months ended 30 June 2020, the ETF's benchmark index returned 5.34%.
- Two heavyweights in the index, the United States and the United Kingdom, outperformed. Spain, South Korea and Japan were among the laggards.
- Treasuries, which account for a little more than half of the index, performed roughly in line with it. Corporate bonds outperformed, with utilities leading the way; mortgage-backed securities underperformed.
- From a credit-quality perspective, results were mixed. By maturity, long-dated bonds significantly outperformed.

All returns in the commentary above are based in British pounds.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* In tracking the performance of the index, the fund attempts to replicate the index by investing all, or substantially all, of its assets in the securities that make up the index, holding each in approximately the same proportion as its weighting in the index. The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor. Tracking difference in the table above is in percentage points.

The Central Bank of Ireland requires a schedule of material changes in the composition of the portfolio during the year. These are defined as aggregate purchases of a security exceeding 1% of the total value of purchases for the year and aggregate disposals greater than 1% of the total value of sales. At a minimum, the largest 20 purchases and 20 sales must be shown; all purchases and sales must be shown if there are fewer than 20. A full listing of the portfolio changes for the year is available, upon request, at no extra cost from the Administrator.

Vanguard U.K. Gilt UCITS ETF

Sub-managed by Vanguard Asset Management, Limited

Investment Objective

Vanguard U.K. Gilt UCITS ETF seeks to track the performance of the Bloomberg Barclays Sterling Gilt Float Adjusted Index, a market-weighted index of UK government fixed income securities denominated in pounds sterling.

Performance Summary (unaudited)

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- It was a challenging fiscal year. Amid easing concerns about global growth and trade tensions and continuing accommodative monetary policies across much of the world, a number of stock market indices climbed to record highs in February. Then as the coronavirus began to spread outside of China, many governments moved to shutter nonessential businesses and restrict trade and travel. That led to a swift and sharp downturn in global economic activity, especially in sectors requiring face-to-face interaction, and a spike in unemployment rates.
- Many central banks acted swiftly to limit the economic damage from the virus, slashing short-term interest rates, ramping up bond purchases to keep longer-term rates low and providing liquidity to financial markets. Governments atop the world's largest economies committed trillions of dollars in spending, loans and loan guarantees to blunt the pandemic's impact.
- Global stocks initially plummeted as large swaths of the economy closed, but they clawed back the gains made earlier in the period as investor sentiment brightened.
- Global bonds experienced high volatility as well but produced solid returns for the period. Liquidity in the bond markets eroded and yield spreads widened between corporates and Treasuries in March, as the outlook for the economy worsened. However, the unprecedented scale of the response from policymakers helped lift markets. For the period, US bonds performed better than their European and Asian counterparts.
- Thanks in part to action by the Bank of England, the ETF's benchmark returned 12.93% for the 12 months ended 30 June 2020.
- There was a significant divergence in performance by maturity. For example, gilts maturing in less than 5 years returned about 2%, while longer-dated bonds performed very strongly.
- Gilts significantly outperformed the broad UK investment-grade bond market.

All returns in the commentary above are based in British pounds.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* In tracking the performance of the index, the fund attempts to replicate the index by investing all, or substantially all, of its assets in the securities that make up the index, holding each in approximately the same proportion as its weighting in the index. The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor. Tracking difference in the table above is in percentage points.

The Central Bank of Ireland requires a schedule of material changes in the composition of the portfolio during the year. These are defined as aggregate purchases of a security exceeding 1% of the total value of purchases for the year and aggregate disposals greater than 1% of the total value of sales. At a minimum, the largest 20 purchases and 20 sales must be shown; all purchases and sales must be shown if there are fewer than 20. A full listing of the portfolio changes for the year is available, upon request, at no extra cost from the Administrator.

Vanguard USD Corporate 1–3 Year Bond UCITS ETF

Managed by Vanguard Global Advisers, LLC

Investment Objective

Vanguard USD Corporate 1–3 Year Bond UCITS ETF seeks to track the performance of the Bloomberg Barclays Global Aggregate Corporate - United States Dollar Index 1–3 Year, a widely recognised benchmark designed to reflect the total universe of publicly traded, fixed-coupon, US dollar-denominated corporate debt securities with maturities of between 1 and 3 years.

Performance Summary (unaudited)

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- It was a challenging fiscal year. Amid easing concerns about global growth and trade tensions and continuing accommodative monetary policies across much of the world, a number of stock market indices climbed to record highs in February. Then as the coronavirus began to spread outside of China, many governments moved to shutter nonessential businesses and restrict trade and travel. That led to a swift and sharp downturn in global economic activity, especially in sectors requiring face-to-face interaction, and a spike in unemployment rates.
- Many central banks acted swiftly to limit the economic damage from the virus, slashing short-term interest rates, ramping up bond purchases to keep longer-term rates low and providing liquidity to financial markets. Governments atop the world's largest economies committed trillions of dollars in spending, loans and loan guarantees to blunt the pandemic's impact.
- Global stocks initially plummeted as large swaths of the economy closed, but they clawed back the gains made earlier in the period as investor sentiment brightened.
- Global bonds experienced high volatility as well but produced solid returns for the period. Liquidity in the bond markets eroded and yield spreads widened between corporates and Treasuries in March, as the outlook for the economy worsened. However, the unprecedented scale of the response from policymakers helped lift markets. For the period, US bonds performed better than their European and Asian counterparts.
- US Treasury yields declined dramatically across the maturity spectrum in the first quarter of 2020, especially those at the short end as the Federal Reserve slashed its federal funds rate. For the ETF's fiscal year, the yield of the 2-year US Treasury note fell 161 basis points to 0.15%, and the yield of the bellwether 10-year US Treasury note declined 135 basis points to 0.66%. (A basis point is one-hundredth of a percentage point.) The average yield spread between US corporate bonds and US Treasuries ended the period wider.
- For the 12 months ended 30 June 2020, the ETF's benchmark index returned 4.43%.
- By sector, bonds issued by utilities and financial institutions outperformed those issued by industrial companies. From a credit-quality perspective, results were mixed.

All returns in the commentary above are based in US dollars.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* In tracking the performance of the index, the fund attempts to replicate the index by investing all, or substantially all, of its assets in the securities that make up the index, holding each in approximately the same proportion as its weighting in the index. The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor. Tracking difference in the table above is in percentage points.

The Central Bank of Ireland requires a schedule of material changes in the composition of the portfolio during the year. These are defined as aggregate purchases of a security exceeding 1% of the total value of purchases for the year and aggregate disposals greater than 1% of the total value of sales. At a minimum, the largest 20 purchases and 20 sales must be shown; all purchases and sales must be shown if there are fewer than 20. A full listing of the portfolio changes for the year is available, upon request, at no extra cost from the Administrator.
