Tracking Error

Each of the funds listed in the table employs a “passive” investment strategy designed to replicate the performance of its benchmark index. Some of the funds attempt to fully replicate the index by holding all of the component securities, in approximately the same proportion as their weighting in the index. Other funds instead use an index sampling process, holding a representative sample of securities which approximates the full index in terms of key risk factors and other characteristics.

Tracking error measures the volatility of the return difference between the fund and the index. It is calculated as the standard deviation of the tracking difference between the fund and the index (gross of fees for the trailing 36-month period, or since the fund’s inception if it does not have 36 months of performance history). Realised (ex-post) tracking error may vary from the anticipated tracking error, depending on a range of circumstances. These include transaction costs, securities lending income and withholding tax differences. The anticipated tracking error and realised tracking error are not expected to vary significantly under normal circumstances.

The resulting translation adjustment represents the difference in exchange rates applied to the net assets at the beginning of the year and an exchange rate differential in consolidating the Statement of Operations at the average rate for the year.

This adjustment is solely for the purposes of reporting a fund total in US dollars and has no effect on any individual sub-fund.

Vanguard DAX UCITS ETF

Managed by The Vanguard Global Advisors, LLC

Investment Objective

Vanguard DAX UCITS ETF seeks to track the performance of the DAX Index, a widely recognised index of the 30 largest German blue chip stocks traded on the Frankfurt Stock Exchange.

Performance Summary (unaudited)

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- It was a challenging fiscal year. Amid easing concerns about global growth and trade tensions and continuing accommodative monetary policies across much of the world, a number of stock market indices climbed to record highs in February. Then as the coronavirus began to spread outside of China, many governments moved to shutter nonessential businesses and restrict trade and travel. That led to a swift and sharp downturn in global economic activity, especially in sectors requiring face-to-face interaction, and a spike in unemployment rates.
- Many central banks acted swiftly to limit the economic damage from the virus, slashing short-term interest rates, ramping up bond purchases to keep longer-term rates low and providing liquidity to financial markets. Governments atop the world's largest economies committed trillions of dollars in spending, loans and loan guarantees to blunt the pandemic's impact.
- Global stocks initially plummeted as large swaths of the economy closed. However, the unprecedented scale of the response from policymakers, the start of numerous trials for vaccines and treatments and the lifting of some lockdown restrictions in countries hit early on by the virus helped lift investor sentiment. Strength in US stocks helped offset declines in both developed markets outside the United States and emerging markets.
- For the 12 months ended 30 June 2020, the ETF's benchmark index returned -1.29%.
- Five of the index's sectors posted positive returns for the year, led by utilities and technology. Consumer services, consumer goods and industrials were the biggest detractors.
- As was announced earlier, after the close of the period Vanguard DAX UCITS ETF changed its name to Vanguard Germany All Cap UCITS ETF and its benchmark to the FTSE Germany All Cap Index.

All returns in the commentary above are in euros.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* In tracking the performance of the index, the fund attempts to replicate the index by investing all, or substantially all, of its assets in the securities that make up the index, holding each in approximately the same proportion as its weighting in the index. The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor. Tracking difference in the table above is in percentage points.

The Central Bank of Ireland requires a schedule of material changes in the composition of the portfolio during the year. These are defined as aggregate purchases of a security exceeding 1% of the total value of purchases for the year and aggregate disposals greater than 1% of the total value of sales. At a minimum, the largest 20 purchases and 20 sales must be shown; all purchases and sales must be shown if there are fewer than 20. A full listing of the portfolio changes for the year is available, upon request, at no extra cost from Brown Brothers Harriman Fund Administration Services (Ireland) Limited (the "Administrator").

Performance Summary (unaudited)

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- It was a challenging fiscal year. Amid easing concerns about global growth and trade tensions and continuing accommodative monetary policies across much of the world, a number of stock market indices climbed to record highs in February. Then as the coronavirus began to spread outside of China, many governments moved to shutter nonessential businesses and restrict trade and travel. That led to a swift and sharp downturn in global economic activity, especially in sectors requiring face-to-face interaction, and a spike in unemployment rates.
- Many central banks acted swiftly to limit the economic damage from the virus, slashing short-term interest rates, ramping up bond purchases to keep longer-term rates low and providing liquidity to financial markets. Governments atop the world's largest economies committed trillions of dollars in spending, loans and loan guarantees to blunt the pandemic's impact.
- Global stocks initially plummeted as large swaths of the economy closed. However, the unprecedented scale of the response from policymakers, the start of numerous trials for vaccines and treatments and the lifting of some lockdown restrictions in countries hit early on by the virus helped lift investor sentiment. Strength in US stocks helped offset declines in both developed markets outside the United States and emerging markets.
- In this environment, the ETF's benchmark index returned -5.05% for the 12 months ended 30 June 2020.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* In tracking the performance of the index, the fund attempts to replicate the index by investing all, or substantially all, of its assets in the securities that make up the index, holding each in approximately the same proportion as its weighting in the index. The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor. Tracking difference in the table above is in percentage points.

The Central Bank of Ireland requires a schedule of material changes in the composition of the portfolio during the year. These are defined as aggregate purchases of a security exceeding 1% of the total value of purchases for the year and aggregate disposals greater than 1% of the total value of sales. At a minimum, the largest 20 purchases and 20 sales must be shown; all purchases and sales must be shown if there are fewer than 20. A full listing of the portfolio changes for the year is available, upon request, at no extra cost from the Administrator.

Performance Summary (unaudited)

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- It was a challenging fiscal year. Amid easing concerns about global growth and trade tensions and continuing accommodative monetary policies across much of the world, a number of stock market indices climbed to record highs in February. Then as the coronavirus began to spread outside of China, many governments moved to shutter nonessential businesses and restrict trade and travel. That led to a swift and sharp downturn in global economic activity, especially in sectors requiring face-to-face interaction, and a spike in unemployment rates.
- Many central banks acted swiftly to limit the economic damage from the virus, slashing short-term interest rates, ramping up bond purchases to keep longer-term rates low and providing liquidity to financial markets. Governments atop the world's largest economies committed trillions of dollars in spending, loans and loan guarantees to blunt the pandemic's impact.
- Global stocks initially plummeted as large swaths of the economy closed. However, the unprecedented scale of the response from policymakers, the start of numerous trials for vaccines and treatments and the lifting of some lockdown restrictions in countries hit early on by the virus helped lift investor sentiment. Strength in US stocks helped offset declines in both developed markets outside the United States and emerging markets.
- For the 12 months ended 30 June 2020, the ETF's benchmark index returned -13.83%.
- Seven of the ten sectors in the index posted negative returns. Oil & gas, financials and technology performed the worst. Health care, utilities and industrials recorded positive returns.

All returns in the commentary above are in British pounds.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* In tracking the performance of the index, the fund attempts to replicate the index by investing all, or substantially all, of its assets in the securities that make up the index, holding each in approximately the same proportion as its weighting in the index. The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor. Tracking difference in the table above is in percentage points.

The Central Bank of Ireland requires a schedule of material changes in the composition of the portfolio during the year. These are defined as aggregate purchases of a security exceeding 1% of the total value of purchases for the year and aggregate disposals greater than 1% of the total value of sales. At a minimum, the largest 20 purchases and 20 sales must be shown; all purchases and sales must be shown if there are fewer than 20. A full listing of the portfolio changes for the year is available, upon request, at no extra cost from the Administrator.

Sub-managed by Vanguard Asset Management, Limited

Investment Objective

Vanguard FTSE 250 UCITS ETF seeks to track the performance of the FTSE 250 Index, a widely recognised benchmark of mid-capitalised companies of the United Kingdom.

Performance Summary (unaudited)

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- It was a challenging fiscal year. Amid easing concerns about global growth and trade tensions and continuing accommodative monetary policies across much of the world, a number of stock market indices climbed to record highs in February. Then as the coronavirus began to spread outside of China, many governments moved to shutter nonessential businesses and restrict trade and travel. That led to a swift and sharp downturn in global economic activity, especially in sectors requiring face-to-face interaction, and a spike in unemployment rates.
- Many central banks acted swiftly to limit the economic damage from the virus, slashing short-term interest rates, ramping up bond purchases to keep longer-term rates low and providing liquidity to financial markets. Governments atop the world's largest economies committed trillions of dollars in spending, loans and loan guarantees to blunt the pandemic's impact.
- Global stocks initially plummeted as large swaths of the economy closed. However, the unprecedented scale of the response from policymakers, the start of numerous trials for vaccines and treatments and the lifting of some lockdown restrictions in countries hit early on by the virus helped lift investor sentiment. Strength in US stocks helped offset declines in both developed markets outside the United States and emerging markets.
- For the 12 months ended 30 June 2020, the ETF's benchmark index returned -10.03%.
- Six of the ten sectors in the index recorded negative returns, notably oil & gas, consumer services and industrials. Utilities, health care, basic materials and technology posted positive returns.

All returns in the commentary above are in British pounds.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* In tracking the performance of the index, the fund attempts to replicate the index by investing all, or substantially all, of its assets in the securities that make up the index, holding each in approximately the same proportion as its weighting in the index. The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor. Tracking difference in the table above is in percentage points.

The Central Bank of Ireland requires a schedule of material changes in the composition of the portfolio during the year. These are defined as aggregate purchases of a security exceeding 1% of the total value of purchases for the year and aggregate disposals greater than 1% of the total value of sales. At a minimum, the largest 20 purchases and 20 sales must be shown; all purchases and sales must be shown if there are fewer than 20. A full listing of the portfolio changes for the year is available, upon request, at no extra cost from the Administrator.

Vanguard FTSE All-World UCITS ETF

Sub-managed by Vanguard Asset Management, Limited

Investment Objective

Vanguard FTSE All-World UCITS ETF seeks to provide long-term growth of capital by tracking the performance of the FTSE All-World Index, a market capitalisation-weighted index of common stocks of large- and mid-cap companies in developed and emerging markets.

Performance Summary (unaudited)

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- It was a challenging fiscal year. Amid easing concerns about global growth and trade tensions and continuing accommodative monetary policies across much of the world, a number of stock market indices climbed to record highs in February. Then as the coronavirus began to spread outside of China, many governments moved to shutter nonessential businesses and restrict trade and travel. That led to a swift and sharp downturn in global economic activity, especially in sectors requiring face-to-face interaction, and a spike in unemployment rates.
- Many central banks acted swiftly to limit the economic damage from the virus, slashing short-term interest rates, ramping up bond purchases to keep longer-term rates low and providing liquidity to financial markets. Governments atop the world's largest economies committed trillions of dollars in spending, loans and loan guarantees to blunt the pandemic's impact.
- Global stocks initially plummeted as large swaths of the economy closed. However, the unprecedented scale of the response from policymakers, the start of numerous trials for vaccines and treatments and the lifting of some lockdown restrictions in countries hit early on by the virus helped lift investor sentiment. Strength in US stocks helped offset declines in both developed markets outside the United States and emerging markets.
- For the 12 months ended 30 June 2020, the ETF's benchmark index returned 2.12%.
- Six of the ten sectors in the index recorded negative returns. Financials and oil & gas detracted most from the index's return. Technology stocks, which returned nearly 35%, contributed most to the index's modest gain, followed by health care stocks.
- From a market perspective, the United States, which accounted for more than half the index, added the most to its return. China and Japan also were among the top contributors, though on a much smaller scale. The United Kingdom weighed most heavily on the index's result, with Brazil and Australia also among the largest detractors.

All returns in the commentary above are in US dollars.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* In tracking the performance of the index, the fund attempts to replicate the index by investing all, or substantially all, of its assets in the securities that make up the index, holding each in approximately the same proportion as its weighting in the index. The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor. Tracking difference in the table above is in percentage points.

The Central Bank of Ireland requires a schedule of material changes in the composition of the portfolio during the year. These are defined as aggregate purchases of a security exceeding 1% of the total value of purchases for the year and aggregate disposals greater than 1% of the total value of sales. At a minimum, the largest 20 purchases and 20 sales must be shown; all purchases and sales must be shown if there are fewer than 20. A full listing of the portfolio changes for the year is available, upon request, at no extra cost from the Administrator.

Vanguard FTSE All-World High Dividend Yield UCITS ETF

Sub-managed by Vanguard Asset Management, Limited

Investment Objective

Vanguard FTSE All-World High Dividend Yield UCITS ETF seeks to track the performance of the FTSE All-World High Dividend Yield Index, a free-float-adjusted market capitalisation-weighted index of common stocks of companies, excluding real estate trusts, in developed and emerging markets that pay dividends that are generally higher than average.

Performance Summary (unaudited)

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- It was a challenging fiscal year. Amid easing concerns about global growth and trade tensions and continuing accommodative monetary policies across much of the world, a number of stock market indices climbed to record highs in February. Then as the coronavirus began to spread outside of China, many governments moved to shutter nonessential businesses and restrict trade and travel. That led to a swift and sharp downturn in global economic activity, especially in sectors requiring face-to-face interaction, and a spike in unemployment rates.
- Many central banks acted swiftly to limit the economic damage from the virus, slashing short-term interest rates, ramping up bond purchases to keep longer-term rates low and providing liquidity to financial markets. Governments atop the world's largest economies committed trillions of dollars in spending, loans and loan guarantees to blunt the pandemic's impact.
- Global stocks initially plummeted as large swaths of the economy closed. However, the unprecedented scale of the response from policymakers, the start of numerous trials for vaccines and treatments and the lifting of some lockdown restrictions in countries hit early on by the virus helped lift investor sentiment. Strength in US stocks helped offset declines in both developed markets outside the United States and emerging markets.
- For the 12 months ended 30 June 2020, the ETF's benchmark index returned -10.63%, as many companies trimmed their dividends in the weak economic environment triggered by the coronavirus.
- Eight of the index's ten sectors recorded negative returns. Financials and oil & gas detracted the most. Health care and technology were the only positive contributors.
- By market, the United States, which accounted for close to 40% of the index, weighed most heavily on its return, followed by the United Kingdom. Of the nearly 50 countries and regions in the index, only Taiwan and Switzerland made meaningful positive contributions to return.

All returns in the commentary above are in US dollars.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* In tracking the performance of the index, the fund attempts to replicate the index by investing all, or substantially all, of its assets in the securities that make up the index, holding each in approximately the same proportion as its weighting in the index. The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor. Tracking difference in the table above is in percentage points.

The Central Bank of Ireland requires a schedule of material changes in the composition of the portfolio during the year. These are defined as aggregate purchases of a security exceeding 1% of the total value of purchases for the year and aggregate disposals greater than 1% of the total value of sales. At a minimum, the largest 20 purchases and 20 sales must be shown; all purchases and sales must be shown if there are fewer than 20. A full listing of the portfolio changes for the year is available, upon request, at no extra cost from the Administrator.

<sup>1</sup> The FTSE All-World High Dividend Yield UCITS ETF was advised on 6 September 2019 that the Fund's index provider, FTSE Russell, identified REITs which were inadvertently included in the Fund's benchmark index during the March 2019 rebalancing. According to the published index methodology, real estate trusts should have been excluded. As of 6 September 2019, the Fund held 66 REITs representing approximately 3% of net assets. Once the Fund was made aware of the error, it sold out of these positions as soon as practicable (all positions were sold out as at 17 September 2019). Inclusion of these securities in the index, and their subsequent sale, did not have a material impact on the performance of the Fund.

Performance Summary (unaudited)

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- It was a challenging fiscal year. Amid easing concerns about global growth and trade tensions and continuing accommodative monetary policies across much of the world, a number of stock market indices climbed to record highs in February. Then as the coronavirus began to spread outside of China, many governments moved to shutter nonessential businesses and restrict trade and travel. That led to a swift and sharp downturn in global economic activity, especially in sectors requiring face-to-face interaction, and a spike in unemployment rates.
- Many central banks acted swiftly to limit the economic damage from the virus, slashing short-term interest rates, ramping up bond purchases to keep longer-term rates low and providing liquidity to financial markets. Governments atop the world's largest economies committed trillions of dollars in spending, loans and loan guarantees to blunt the pandemic's impact.
- Global stocks initially plummeted as large swaths of the economy closed. However, the unprecedented scale of the response from policymakers, the start of numerous trials for vaccines and treatments and the lifting of some lockdown restrictions in countries hit early on by the virus helped lift investor sentiment. Strength in US stocks helped offset declines in both developed markets outside the United States and emerging markets.
- Global bonds experienced high volatility as well but produced solid returns for the period.
- In this environment, the ETF's benchmark index returned -8.35% for the 12 months ended 30 June 2020.
- The Australia and Hong Kong markets detracted most from returns, while South Korea and New Zealand were net contributors.
- Eight of ten industry sectors posted negative results. Financials and industrials eroded returns the most. Technology and health care recorded gains and helped offset the declines.

All returns in the commentary above are in US dollars.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* In tracking the performance of the index, the fund attempts to replicate the index by investing all, or substantially all, of its assets in the securities that make up the index, holding each in approximately the same proportion as its weighting in the index. The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor. Tracking difference in the table above is in percentage points.

These are defined as aggregate purchases of a security exceeding 1% of the total value of purchases for the year and aggregate disposals greater than 1% of the total value of sales. At a minimum, the largest 20 purchases and 20 sales must be shown; all purchases and sales must be shown if there are fewer than 20. # Vanguard FTSE Developed Europe UCITS ETF

Investment Objective

Vanguard FTSE Developed Europe UCITS ETF seeks to track the performance of the FTSE Developed Europe Index, a widely recognised benchmark of stock market performance of European developed countries that is composed of the stocks of large- and mid-capitalised companies in developed Europe.

Performance Summary (unaudited)

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- It was a challenging fiscal year. Amid easing concerns about global growth and trade tensions and continuing accommodative monetary policies across much of the world, a number of stock market indices climbed to record highs in February. Then as the coronavirus began to spread outside of China, many governments moved to shutter nonessential businesses and restrict trade and travel. That led to a swift and sharp downturn in global economic activity, especially in sectors requiring face-to-face interaction, and a spike in unemployment rates.
- Many central banks acted swiftly to limit the economic damage from the virus, slashing short-term interest rates, ramping up bond purchases to keep longer-term rates low and providing liquidity to financial markets. Governments atop the world's largest economies committed trillions of dollars in spending, loans and loan guarantees to blunt the pandemic's impact.
- Global stocks initially plummeted as large swaths of the economy closed. However, the unprecedented scale of the response from policymakers, the start of numerous trials for vaccines and treatments and the lifting of some lockdown restrictions in countries hit early on by the virus helped lift investor sentiment. Strength in US stocks helped offset declines in both developed markets outside the United States and emerging markets.
- For the 12 months ended 30 June 2020, the ETF's benchmark index returned -5.15%.
- By market, Denmark, China and Portugal turned in double-digit positive performances. The United Kingdom, which accounts for about a quarter of the index, was the biggest detractor.
- Seven of the index's ten sectors generated negative returns. Financials and oil & gas detracted most. Health care and technology were the top contributors.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* In tracking the performance of the index, the fund attempts to replicate the index by investing all, or substantially all, of its assets in the securities that make up the index, holding each in approximately the same proportion as its weighting in the index. The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor. Tracking difference in the table above is in percentage points.

The Central Bank of Ireland requires a schedule of material changes in the composition of the portfolio during the year. These are defined as aggregate purchases of a security exceeding 1% of the total value of purchases for the year and aggregate disposals greater than 1% of the total value of sales. At a minimum, the largest 20 purchases and 20 sales must be shown; all purchases and sales must be shown if there are fewer than 20. A full listing of the portfolio changes for the year is available, upon request, at no extra cost from the Administrator.

Vanguard FTSE Developed Europe ex UK UCITS ETF

Sub-managed by Vanguard Asset Management, Limited

Investment Objective

Vanguard FTSE Developed Europe ex UK UCITS ETF seeks to track the performance of the FTSE Developed Europe ex UK Index, a widely recognised market capitalisation-weighted index of stock market performance of European developed countries, excluding the United Kingdom, that is composed of the stocks of large- and mid-cap companies in that region.

Performance Summary (unaudited)

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- It was a challenging fiscal year. Amid easing concerns about global growth and trade tensions and continuing accommodative monetary policies across much of the world, a number of stock market indices climbed to record highs in February. Then as the coronavirus began to spread outside of China, many governments moved to shutter nonessential businesses and restrict trade and travel. That led to a swift and sharp downturn in global economic activity, especially in sectors requiring face-to-face interaction, and a spike in unemployment rates.
- Many central banks acted swiftly to limit the economic damage from the virus, slashing short-term interest rates, ramping up bond purchases to keep longer-term rates low and providing liquidity to financial markets. Governments atop the world's largest economies committed trillions of dollars in spending, loans and loan guarantees to blunt the pandemic's impact.
- Global stocks initially plummeted as large swaths of the economy closed. However, the unprecedented scale of the response from policymakers, the start of numerous trials for vaccines and treatments and the lifting of some lockdown restrictions in countries hit early on by the virus helped lift investor sentiment. Strength in US stocks helped offset declines in both developed markets outside the United States and emerging markets.
- For the 12 months ended 30 June 2020, the ETF's benchmark index returned -1.52%.
- By market, France, which had the index's largest weighting, detracted most from returns. Switzerland, with the second-largest weighting, made the biggest positive contribution.
- Six of the ten sectors in the index posted negative returns, with oil & gas and financials the worst performers. Technology, health care, utilities and basic materials recorded positive returns.

All returns in the commentary above are in euros.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* In tracking the performance of the index, the fund attempts to replicate the index by investing all, or substantially all, of its assets in the securities that make up the index, holding each in approximately the same proportion as its weighting in the index. The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor. Tracking difference in the table above is in percentage points.

These are defined as aggregate purchases of a security exceeding 1% of the total value of purchases for the year and aggregate disposals greater than 1% of the total value of sales. At a minimum, the largest 20 purchases and 20 sales must be shown; all purchases and sales must be shown if there are fewer than 20. A full listing of the portfolio changes for the year is available, upon request, at no extra cost from the Administrator.

Investment Objective

Vanguard FTSE Developed World UCITS ETF seeks to track the performance of the FTSE Developed Index, a widely recognised benchmark of large- and mid-capitalisation companies in global developed markets.

Performance Summary (unaudited)

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- It was a challenging fiscal year. Amid easing concerns about global growth and trade tensions and continuing accommodative monetary policies across much of the world, a number of stock market indices climbed to record highs in February. Then as the coronavirus began to spread outside of China, many governments moved to shutter nonessential businesses and restrict trade and travel. That led to a swift and sharp downturn in global economic activity, especially in sectors requiring face-to-face interaction, and a spike in unemployment rates.
- Many central banks acted swiftly to limit the economic damage from the virus, slashing short-term interest rates, ramping up bond purchases to keep longer-term rates low and providing liquidity to financial markets. Governments atop the world's largest economies committed trillions of dollars in spending, loans and loan guarantees to blunt the pandemic's impact.
- Global stocks initially plummeted as large swaths of the economy closed. However, the unprecedented scale of the response from policymakers, the start of numerous trials for vaccines and treatments and the lifting of some lockdown restrictions in countries hit early on by the virus helped lift investor sentiment. Strength in US stocks helped offset declines in both developed markets outside the United States and emerging markets.
- For the 12 months ended 30 June 2020, the ETF's benchmark index returned 2.82%.
- Six of the index's ten sectors recorded negative returns. Financials and oil & gas detracted the most. Technology stocks returned about 35% and were the index's leading contributors, followed by health care stocks.
- Among markets, the United States, which accounted for more than 60% of the index, added the most to its return. Japan and Switzerland also made solid contributions. The United Kingdom detracted the most, while Australia and France also were among the biggest laggards.

All returns in the commentary above are in US dollars.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* In tracking the performance of the index, the fund attempts to replicate the index by investing all, or substantially all, of its assets in the securities that make up the index, holding each in approximately the same proportion as its weighting in the index. The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor. Tracking difference in the table above is in percentage points.

Vanguard FTSE Emerging Markets UCITS ETF

Sub-managed by Vanguard Asset Management, Limited

Investment Objective

Vanguard FTSE Emerging Markets UCITS ETF seeks to track the performance of the FTSE Emerging Index, a free-float market capitalisation-weighted index of large- and mid-cap companies in multiple emerging markets in Europe, Asia, Africa, Central and South America and the Middle East.

Performance Summary (unaudited)

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- It was a challenging fiscal year. Amid easing concerns about global growth and trade tensions and continuing accommodative monetary policies across much of the world, a number of stock market indices climbed to record highs in February. Then as the coronavirus began to spread outside of China, many governments moved to shutter nonessential businesses and restrict trade and travel. That led to a swift and sharp downturn in global economic activity, especially in sectors requiring face-to-face interaction, and a spike in unemployment rates.
- Many central banks acted swiftly to limit the economic damage from the virus, slashing short-term interest rates, ramping up bond purchases to keep longer-term rates low and providing liquidity to financial markets. Governments atop the world's largest economies committed trillions of dollars in spending, loans and loan guarantees to blunt the pandemic's impact.
- Global stocks initially plummeted as large swaths of the economy closed. However, the unprecedented scale of the response from policymakers, the start of numerous trials for vaccines and treatments and the lifting of some lockdown restrictions in countries hit early on by the virus helped lift investor sentiment. Strength in US stocks helped offset declines in both developed markets outside the United States and emerging markets.
- For the 12 months ended 30 June 2020, the ETF's benchmark index returned -3.60%.
- Seven of the index's ten sectors recorded negative returns. Financials, the largest sector in the index, returned about -22% and detracted the most, followed by oil & gas and basic materials. Technology, which returned more than 32%, contributed most. Consumer services and health care also posted double-digit returns.
- China, the largest market in the index, added the most to its return. Taiwan was the only other market that recorded a gain. Brazil, India and South Africa detracted the most.

All returns in the commentary above are in US dollars.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* In tracking the performance of the index, the fund attempts to replicate the index by investing all, or substantially all, of its assets in the securities that make up the index, holding each in approximately the same proportion as its weighting in the index. The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor. Tracking difference in the table above is in percentage points.

Performance Summary (unaudited)

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- It was a challenging fiscal year. Amid easing concerns about global growth and trade tensions and continuing accommodative monetary policies across much of the world, a number of stock market indices climbed to record highs in February. Then as the coronavirus began to spread outside of China, many governments moved to shutter nonessential businesses and restrict trade and travel. That led to a swift and sharp downturn in global economic activity, especially in sectors requiring face-to-face interaction, and a spike in unemployment rates.
  - Many central banks acted swiftly to limit the economic damage from the virus, slashing short-term interest rates, ramping up bond purchases to keep longer-term rates low and providing liquidity to financial markets. Governments atop the world's largest economies committed trillions of dollars in spending, loans and loan guarantees to blunt the pandemic's impact.
  - Global stocks initially plummeted as large swaths of the economy closed. However, the unprecedented scale of the response from policymakers, the start of numerous trials for vaccines and treatments and the lifting of some lockdown restrictions in countries hit early on by the virus helped lift investor sentiment. Strength in US stocks helped offset declines in both developed markets outside the United States and emerging markets.
  - Global bonds experienced high volatility as well but produced solid returns for the period.
  - In this environment, the ETF's benchmark index returned 3.24% for the 12 months ended 30 June 2020.
  - Five of ten industry sectors posted positive results, with health care, technology and industrials contributing most to returns. Financial stocks detracted most.
- All returns in the commentary above are in US dollars.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* In tracking the performance of the index, the fund attempts to replicate the index by investing all, or substantially all, of its assets in the securities that make up the index, holding each in approximately the same proportion as its weighting in the index. The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor. Tracking difference in the table above is in percentage points.

Vanguard FTSE North America UCITS ETF

Sub-managed by Vanguard Asset Management, Limited

Investment Objective

Vanguard FTSE North America UCITS ETF seeks to track the performance of the FTSE North America Index, a market capitalisation-weighted index of large- and mid-cap companies in the United States and Canada.

Performance Summary (unaudited)

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- It was a challenging fiscal year. Amid easing concerns about global growth and trade tensions and continuing accommodative monetary policies across much of the world, a number of stock market indices climbed to record highs in February. Then as the coronavirus began to spread outside of China, many governments moved to shutter nonessential businesses and restrict trade and travel. That led to a swift and sharp downturn in global economic activity, especially in sectors requiring face-to-face interaction, and a spike in unemployment rates.
- Many central banks acted swiftly to limit the economic damage from the virus, slashing short-term interest rates, ramping up bond purchases to keep longer-term rates low and providing liquidity to financial markets. Governments atop the world's largest economies committed trillions of dollars in spending, loans and loan guarantees to blunt the pandemic's impact.
- Global stocks initially plummeted as large swaths of the economy closed. However, the unprecedented scale of the response from policymakers, the start of numerous trials for vaccines and treatments and the lifting of some lockdown restrictions in countries hit early on by the virus helped lift investor sentiment. Strength in US stocks helped offset declines in both developed markets outside the United States and emerging markets.
- Global bonds experienced high volatility as well but produced solid returns for the period.
- In this environment, the ETF's benchmark index returned 7.05% for the 12 months ended 30 June 2020.
- The United States, which makes up approximately 95% of the index, contributed most to returns. Canadian stocks detracted slightly.
- Six of ten industry sectors posted positive results, with technology, consumer services and health care adding most to returns. Financials and oil & gas detracted most.

All returns in the commentary above are in US dollars.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* In tracking the performance of the index, the fund attempts to replicate the index by investing all, or substantially all, of its assets in the securities that make up the index, holding each in approximately the same proportion as its weighting in the index. The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor. Tracking difference in the table above is in percentage points.

The Central Bank of Ireland requires a schedule of material changes in the composition of the portfolio during the year. These are defined as aggregate purchases of a security exceeding 1% of the total value of purchases for the year and aggregate disposals greater than 1% of the total value of sales. At a minimum, the largest 20 purchases and 20 sales must be shown; all purchases and sales must be shown if there are fewer than 20. A full listing of the portfolio changes for the year is available, upon request, at no extra cost from the Administrator.

Vanguard Global Liquidity Factor UCITS ETF

Managed by Vanguard Global Advisers, LLC

Investment Objective

Vanguard Global Liquidity Factor UCITS ETF seeks to provide long-term capital appreciation.

Performance Summary (unaudited)

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements. The ETF is actively managed and seeks to invest as described in the prospectus. The table shows how the fund's total return compares with the return of a market index that has investment characteristics similar to those of the fund.

- It was a challenging fiscal year. Amid easing concerns about global growth and trade tensions and continuing accommodative monetary policies across much of the world, a number of stock market indices climbed to record highs in February. Then as the coronavirus began to spread outside of China, many governments moved to shutter nonessential businesses and restrict trade and travel. That led to a swift and sharp downturn in global economic activity, especially in sectors requiring face-to-face interaction, and a spike in unemployment rates.
- Many central banks acted swiftly to limit the economic damage from the virus, slashing short-term interest rates, ramping up bond purchases to keep longer-term rates low and providing liquidity to financial markets. Governments atop the world's largest economies committed trillions of dollars in spending, loans and loan guarantees to blunt the pandemic's impact.
- Global stocks initially plummeted as large swaths of the economy closed. However, the unprecedented scale of the response from policymakers, the start of numerous trials for vaccines and treatments and the lifting of some lockdown restrictions in countries hit early on by the virus helped lift investor sentiment. Strength in US stocks helped offset declines in both developed markets outside the United States and emerging markets.
- The ETF invests primarily in US and foreign stocks from developed markets that have lower liquidity characteristics than those in the benchmark index. The investment adviser uses a quantitative model with a rules-based active approach. It favours stocks with low trading volumes and other measures of trading liquidity, including price impact and trading share and dollar volumes based on percentage turnover. These measures have been shown to be components of long-run stock market returns.
- For the 12 months ended 30 June 2020, the ETF underperformed its benchmark index, which returned 1.92%. Three of the ten sectors contributed positively to relative performance. Selection in health care and an underweight allocation to oil & gas boosted returns; an underweight to technology, selection in consumer services and an overweight to financials hurt results the most.
- Among markets, stock selection in the United States, which accounted for about two-thirds of the ETF's holdings, detracted the most from relative performance. The United Kingdom, Australia and Canada contributed the most.

All returns in the commentary above are in US dollars.

The Central Bank of Ireland requires a schedule of material changes in the composition of the portfolio during the year. These are defined as aggregate purchases of a security exceeding 1% of the total value of purchases for the year and aggregate disposals greater than 1% of the total value of sales. At a minimum, the largest 20 purchases and 20 sales must be shown; all purchases and sales must be shown if there are fewer than 20. A full listing of the portfolio changes for the year is available, upon request, at no extra cost from the Administrator.
