Manager's Report

MARKET REPORT

Gold Miners

This market background summary covers VanEck Gold Miners UCITS ETF and VanEck Junior Gold Miners UCITS ETF.

- For the period from 1 January 2024 to 30 June 2024, VanEck Gold Miners UCITS ETF returned 9.36% and VanEck Junior Gold Miners UCITS ETF returned 10.98%.
- After reaching a new all-time high in May, offsetting forces kept gold unchanged during the month of June. Gold traded as high as $2,376 per ounce on 6 June. On 7 June, gold closed at its monthly low of $2,294 following news that the central bank of China did not buy any gold bullion in May. Global central bank gold buying has been one of the main drivers of this year's gold rally, with the Chinese central bank behind a large percentage of those purchases. The People's Bank of China has been reporting bullion purchases since November 2022, 18 consecutive months of buying. The pause in buying likely raised concern among gold market participants that this important driver of gold demand could weaken. In contrast, gold investment demand has been in decline since April 2022, but in June, global holdings of gold bullion backed exchange traded products finally registered inflows, albeit small, after 12 consecutive months of net outflows.
- Geopolitical tensions might boost gold's allure as safe-haven asset. With an ongoing conflict in Ukraine, the prolonged war in Israel and simmering tensions between China and Taiwan, gold appears as a hedge on an investment portfolio.
- Looking forward, a central bank survey from the World Gold Council indicates that as a whole the buying spree isn't over, with 29 percent of the 70 respondents saying they plan to continue adding gold to their reserves over the next year. For the most part, gold stocks haven't yet reacted to the elevated gold price, suggested that the disconnect is related to the fact that central banks have been such strong buyers of gold, but they aren't buyers of gold shares. We see a lot of potential for juniors' gold miners that could surprise expectations to the upside.
- Our outlook for higher gold prices in the longer term is unchanged (next key level to watch is 2500$), supported by the risks imposed by sustained elevated interest rates, possibly stickier inflation, continued global geopolitical tensions, a trend by countries around the world to diversify away from the U.S. dollar and increase their gold reserves, and the pending risk of a U.S. and/or global economic recession.

Morningstar US Sustainable Wide Moat

This market background summary covers VanEck Morningstar US Sustainable Wide Moat UCITS ETF.

- For the period from 1 January 2024 to 30 June 2024, VanEck Morningstar US Sustainable Wide Moat UCITS ETF returned 2.89%.
- VanEck Morningstar US Sustainable Wide Moat UCITS ETF seeks to replicate as closely as possible, before fees and expenses, the price and yield performance of the Morningstar US Sustainable Moat Focus Index TM (MSUSSMNU). The index targets U.S. companies with sustainable competitive advantages, i.e., "moats," and attractive valuations in the view of Morningstar's team of more than 100 equity analysts, subject to ESG screening based on Sustainalytics data.
- According to the forward-looking process of Morningstar's Equity Research group, companies with moats have the potential to create above-average returns for longer periods of time. The index's approach to investing in U.S. companies with wide economic moats when they are attractively priced has resulted in long-term outperformance versus the broad U.S. equity market.

Morningstar US Sustainable Wide Moat (continued)

In 2024, Moat Index saw a slight decrease in exposure to the Information Technology sector that had a strong rally in the previous months but became largely overvalued, according to Morningstar estimates. The technology sector played a significant role in the overall performance of the strategy during the reporting period.

Morningstar Global Wide Moat

This market background summary covers VanEck Morningstar Global Wide Moat UCITS ETF.

- For the period from 1 January 2024 to 30 June 2024, VanEck Morningstar Global Wide Moat UCITS ETF returned 2.41%.
- VanEck Morningstar Global Wide Moat UCITS ETF provides exposure to global firms with Morningstar Economic Moat Ratings that are trading at the lowest current market price/fair value ratios.
- As of 30 June 2024, most of the companies in the index were located in the US (roughly 47% weight), United Kingdom (above 12%) and Australia (slightly below 6%). Top 3 sectors of Global Wide Moat companies were Industrials, Financials and Consumer Staples.

Emerging Markets Government Debt

This market background summary covers VanEck J.P. Morgan EM Local Currency Bond UCITS ETF.

- For the period from 1 January 2024 to 30 June 2024, VanEck J.P. Morgan EM Local Currency Bond UCITS ETF returned -4.2%.
- Within emerging markets debt, local currency bonds have historically provided the greatest diversification benefit compared to U.S. dollar-denominated emerging markets sovereign or corporate bonds, as measured by the segment's relatively low correlation to other asset classes.
- · Continued inflationary pressures may benefit commodity sensitive currencies
- Local currency bonds (based on EMLC's index) have lost in value in the first half of 2024 and now provide a yield of around 7.3%. This still constitutes a significant pick-up against comparable 5-year EUR government bonds.
- Many EM central banks were well ahead of the Fed in hiking rates over, which gives them room to ease their policies and support the economy. At the same time, most of DM countries are still struggling to contain inflation and are therefore cautious about lowering the rates, despite the weakening economy.
- Average credit quality of the local EM benchmark is investment grade (Baa2/BBB) and multiple notches higher than the hard currency benchmark, which is on average high yield (Ba1/BB+), reflecting the difference in composition.

Emerging Markets Corporate Debt

This market background summary covers VanEck Emerging Markets High Yield Bond UCITS ETF.

- For the period from 1 January 2024 to 30 June 2024, VanEck Emerging Markets High Yield Bond UCITS ETF returned 6%.
- EM USD high yield corporates currently provide an overall average yield of around 8.6%, a yield pickup of 0.6% over US high yield, while maintaining similar levels of duration.

Emerging Markets Corporate Debt (continued)

- While providing higher yields, EM universe contains a greater portion of bonds rated BB, and fewer rated CCC and below, versus high yield U.S. and Developed Market corporate bonds.
- From a fundamental standpoint, EM issuers currently exhibit more favorable debt metrics versus US high yield issuers including interest coverage and leverage; as a result, investors are getting paid more by issuers with less leverage.
- EM high yield corporate bonds may benefit from elevated global inflation, with high exposure to sectors such as Energy (20.2%) and Basic Materials (11.4%).

Global Fallen Angels

This market background summary covers VanEck Global Fallen Angel High Yield Bond UCITS ETF.

- For the period from 1 January 2024 to 30 June 2024, VanEck Global Fallen Angel High Yield Bond UCITS ETF returned 2.04%.
- Fallen angel bonds are part of the overall high yield universe but unique in that they were originally issued with investment grade ratings and later downgraded to non-investment grade, or high yield.
  This results in differentiating characteristics versus the broader high yield bond market—such as, a higher average credit quality—and the crossover from investment grade to high yield markets is where the value proposition of fallen angels originates.
- Yield to Worst of the ETF dropped slightly downwards since the end of the year to 6.97% (while as of 31 December 2023 it was 7.28%) reflecting expectations of slow rate cuts in the developed markets in 2024.
- Spreads compressed significantly in the first half of 2024, to a tune of 76 bps.
- As of 30 June 2024, the ETF had a 21.3% allocation to the energy sector, which could continue benefiting from disruptions following the geopolitical situation.

Global Mining

This market background summary covers VanEck Global Mining UCITS ETF.

- For the period from 1 January 2024 to 30 June 2024, VanEck Global Mining UCITS ETF returned 0.24%.
- Many secular trends have driven increased demand for green metals such as copper, lithium, and rare earth elements in recent years, and that demand is only expected to increase moving forward. However, sluggish recovery in demand from China and increased lithium production have resulted in lower prices. On the other hand, copper demand and prices continue to be strong, and companies in this sector remain profitable. Technological advancements—including those technologies and applications needed for the transition from fossil fuels to a low carbon economy—are expected to continue to fuel the next wave of demand.
- The conflict in Ukraine and in Middle East has added a level of urgency to the energy transition and raised other national security concerns, all of which can be tied back to these metals. Many rare earth elements for example are used in radar technology, jet engines, and missile defense systems, and many governments have signaled increases to defense spending.
- Large, diversified metals and mining companies are heavily involved in the extraction and processing of green metals but, their revenues and expenses are often far more influenced by industrial metals such as aluminum and iron ore.

Global Mining (continued)

- We see global shipping disruptions, caused by lingering conflicts and supply bottlenecks. This could push inflation higher or at least make it more difficult for it to fall back quickly to the level targeted by central banks. Commodities and resource-equities have historically provided a hedge against inflation.
- Long-term, we see new applications, including Cybertrucks (up to three drive motors), robots (unit usage level may be similar to EV usage), and eVTOL to bring incremental demand. Short term: We see more downside risk for lithium and solar glass prices while the impact from the US ban on Russian enriched uranium seems to be partially front-loaded, and Russia has not indicated it will halt exports.
- Valuations of mining companies remain attractive, relative to both historical averages and other sectors of the economy. As of 16/7/2024 the P/E of the VanEck Global Mining UCITS ETF is 20.69.

Video Gaming and eSports

This market background summary covers VanEck Video Gaming and eSports UCITS ETF.

- For the period from 1 January 2024 to 30 June 2024, VanEck Video Gaming and eSports UCITS ETF returned 17.75%.
- Mobile gaming continues to dominate industry revenues and provides the most growth by segment (compared to PC and console). This is further boosted by increasing internet connectivity, the development of high bandwidth network such as 5G and rising adoption of smartphones worldwide.
- Al is becoming increasingly significant in the gaming industry, specifically, the potential role of generative Al in cost-efficient game development methodologies could significantly boost earnings for companies in this sector. PwC projects that the video game industry's revenues could grow from $262 billion in 2023 to as much as $312 billion by 2027. Also, other game developers are making active use of Al to improve the gaming experience and make it feel more real. For example, the racing series Forza saves players driving habits and uploads them into avatars who then compete with the players themselves; all in an effort to make the game closer to reality.
- A revolution of the revenue model is under way with "game as a service" replacing "game as a product". Revenues generated under this model are known as recurrent consumer spending and substitute a single revenue-generating fee. Consumers don't carry out anymore a single initial purchase to buy the product but instead engage in more frequent spending over time. The game as a service trend is being accompanied by the in-game spending phenomenon that sees players carrying out regular purchases within the gaming environment. Popular games, who turned out to be great successes, adopted this business model.
- The Play to Earn trend (P2E) is on the rise with gamers who have the chance to earn cash, prizes and digital assets by playing and participating in various games. It is an entirely new gaming business model where economic benefits flow not only in the direction of publishers but also gamers.
- Subscription based models like PSN pass, apple arcade, Xbox game pass are growing in popularity providing consistent sources of revenues for companies. Cross-Plataforma gaming are expected to rise in popularity: through the incorporation of retail VR and the development of the metaverse. Developers are optimistic that a more immersive and interconnected gaming experience will be reached. Roblox (top 10 ESPO holdings) is set to benefit from these technologies allowing access through PC, IOS and android devices.
- Within the P2E trend crypto games are emerging. Just like traditional gaming, also crypto gaming is filled with a variety of games and is based on the concept of integrating gaming and crypto in the same environment. These games are built on the blockchain, and players can earn crypto by playing and completing tasks. However, US iOS app-store is still reluctant to publish these games because they aren't able to take advantage of commission fees for in-game purchases.

Semiconductor

This market background summary covers VanEck Semiconductor UCITS ETF.

- For the period from 1 January 2024 to 30 June 2024 VanEck Semiconductor UCITS ETF returned 36.57%.
- The growth in demand for electronic chips was largely driven by the artificial intelligence sector, as computing power needed for this technology requires the use of a large number of semiconductors. As of 30 June 2024 NVIDIA is the 3rd-largest company in the world by market capitalization, trailing only Apple and Microsoft, with a brief stint at #1 during the course of H1'2024.
- Semiconductors remain at the heart of industrial sovereignty issues, with companies starting to take advantage of the benefits offered by the US Chips Act as well as European industrial subsidies.
- The rivalry between China and the United States over the supply of semiconductors continues. China has launched an investigation into the American giant Micron to detect any "risks" to its "national security". This investigation is taking place against a backdrop of tension between the two powers.
  The US are seeking to restrict China's access to powerful electronic chips, while China is trying to emancipate itself from the United States and develop its own semiconductor industry.

Hydrogen

This market background summary covers VanEck Hydrogen Economy UCITS ETF.

- For the period from 1 January 2024 to 30 June 2024 VanEck Hydrogen Economy UCITS ETF returned -22.28%.
- Hydrogen projects are highly capital intensive and in its Global Hydrogen Review 2023, the International Energy Agency (IEA) estimates that a 3% rise in cost of capital can lead to a 50% increase of a project costs.
- The extent of the barriers that new projects must overcome is revealed in Hydrogen Insights 2023, where the Hydrogen Council and McKinsey & Co calculate that the cost of producing renewable hydrogen rose by up to 65%, to about 4.5 to 6.5 USD per kilogram.
- These inflationary pressures have coincided with a drop in fossil fuel prices, especially natural gas, making clean hydrogen even less competitive. For natural gas, increased production capacity and mild winters are both boosting supply and reducing demand.
- Despite the negative performance YTD, we remain positive on this rapidly expanding renewable form of energy whose applications could range from cars to planes through ships and industrial establishments.
- Clean hydrogen is seen as essential for achieving net-zero emissions by 2050, with governments signaling its central role in the energy transition during the COP28 climate summit in Dubai. Additionally, according to the Hydrogen Council and McKinsey, clean hydrogen offers a scalable and cost-effective option for deep decarbonization in sectors such as steel, maritime, aviation, and ammonia, as well as providing energy storage and transportation solutions.
- The project pipeline for clean hydrogen is growing, with globally over 1,400 projects announced by the end of 2023, representing USD 570 billion in investments and 45 million tons per annum of clean hydrogen supply by 2030.

Hydrogen (continued)

 Although the costs of producing renewable hydrogen rose by up to 65% due to inflationary pressures, impacting the economics of hydrogen projects, declining inflation and lower policy interest rates could ease these headwinds.

Digital Assets

This market background summary covers VanEck Crypto and Blockchain Innovators UCITS ETF.

- For the period from 1 January 2024 to 30 June 2024, VanEck Crypto and Blockchain Innovators UCITS ETF returned 15.54%.
- Performance was widespread and not due to a few holdings. Sentiment toward crypto and specifically towards bitcoin has rapidly shifted with both US candidates favourable to accommodate its integration within the financial system.
- Digital transformation companies engage in a wide variety of business lines within the broader ecosystem such as: payment gateways, hardware, crypto miners, exchanges, crypto holding and trading, software and value added services, banking and asset management. Sony, perhaps Japan's most well-known tech giant, is acquiring the exchange Amber Japan, which will relaunch under the group's leadership as S.BLOX. This marks Sony's official entry into the crypto business.
- Market anticipation of a potential FED pivot in 2024, systemic risks and the next Bitcoin halving cycle approaching supported cryptocurrencies who registered strong performance. Former US president Donald Trump confirmed it's presence at the Bitcoin conference in Nashville on 27th July marking a pivotal moment for the industry.
- VanEck Crypto and Blockchain Innovators UCITS ETF is a pure-play product investing in companies truly involved in the blockchain ecosystem. Digital assets equities can be viewed as a leveraged bet on digital assets, outperforming them during bull markets but underperforming them over market downturns. Over 2024, digital assets equities registered excellent performance.
- VanEck Crypto and Blockchain Innovators UCITS ETF over 2024 (as of 17/07) displayed a lower correlation to broad market indices like the Nasdaq (0.16) than to the main cryptocurrency Bitcoin (0.53).

Rare Earth

This market background summary covers VanEck Rare Earth and Strategic Metals UCITS ETF.

- For the period from 1 January 2024 to 30 June 2024, VanEck Rare Earth and Strategic Metals UCITS ETF returned -31.33%.
- The VanEck Rare Earth and Strategic Metals UCITS ETF (REMX), is closely tied to the MVIS Global Rare Earth/Strategic Metals Index (MVREMXTR), which in the last year allocated 40%-50% of its portfolio to lithium-related companies, while at least 25% of the portfolio is focused on companies involved in the extraction and processing of Rare Earth elements.
- Recent declines in lithium prices due to weaker-than-expected electric vehicle (EV) demand and increased supply of battery metals, influenced negatively "REMX" performance. Despite short-term volatility, the long-term forecast for rare earths and strategic metals remains positive, because they are crucial for decarbonization efforts, especially in the EV sector and wind-solar energy production.
- Rare earths access and availability continues to be a hot topic worldwide: in fact, these 17 metal elements remain necessary for technological developments and key advancements across various sectors. From computers and batteries to defense systems and monitors they are of vital importance.

Rare Earth (continued)

- Rare earth prices stabilized and rebounded in 2Q, which we believe should help alleviate magnet producers' margin pressure. Despite intense competition as demand growth slows, industry leaders are being distinguished by technology advantages, cooperation with key customers, and leading positioning in overseas markets.
- Operating rates of small producers are low. Long-term, we see new applications, including Cybertrucks (up to three drive motors), robots (unit usage level may be similar to EV usage), and eVTOL to bring incremental demand.
- On the demand side, the situation is also bearish. As of July 5th, the EU has enacted tariffs on many Chinese EV companies, including roughly 20% on BYD and Geely, and around 40% on SAIC. Additionally, on May 14th, the US quadrupled tariffs on Chinese EVs to 100%. Since China is the largest producer of EVs, any significant drop in forecasted Chinese EV sales heavily impacts the outlook for lithium demand, and by extension, many stocks in REMX.
- Despite tech advancements in battery manufacturing, Li-ion batteries remain undefeated in the energy-density battery race with 260 Wh/kg against the 160 Wh/kg Na-ion counterpart. Demand for Rare Earth materials is unlikely to decrease anytime soon due to their extensive use in high technology devices from smartphones (i.e. lanthanum makes up as much as 50 percent of digital camera lenses, including cell phone cameras) to flat panel displays and extensive use of highefficiency magnets necessary for wind turbines correct functioning.
- Additionally, geopolitics reinforces the need for countries around the world to develop their mineral strategy for the entire value chain, from exploration to recycling. Even with the risks it involves, having exposure to this sector could allow investors to contribute to finance sustainable development, economic growth and technological advancement globally.

China New

This market background summary covers VanEck New China ESG UCITS ETF.

- For the period from 1 January 2024 to 30 June 2024, VanEck New China ESG UCITS ETF returned -11.87%.
- China keeps being on the way of a structural change that sees consumer-oriented sectors replacing heavy industries. Factors contributing to this shift are a growing upper middle class, further technological developments, an aging population and a particularly high number of millennials in the country.
- The transition towards a new economic model keeps being under way: the sectors shaping the Chinese economy include healthcare, consumer staples and discretionary as well as technology.
- VanEck New China ESG UCITS ETF achieved a negative performance in 2023. The reopening narrative was quickly replaced by worse than expected economic data as well as fears of possible deflation affecting the country. China is at the moment the only major economy who is not struggling to bring inflation down, but instead is battling with the opposite dynamic.

Smart Home*

This market background summary covers VanEck Smart Home Active UCITS ETF.

- For the period from 1 January 2024 to 30 June 2024 VanEck Smart Home Active UCITS ETF returned 2.61%.
- The smart home industry is vast. It brings together manufacturers from all over the world who produce components, software or services. The giants of the tech world have all released products for the smart home market. This month, February 2024, Apple launched the Vision Pro headset: glasses that the visionary tech company positions as the next step beyond mobile computing.

- In a February 2022 report, McKinsey estimated that up to $265 billion worth of medical services (representing up to 25% of the total cost of care) could shift from traditional facilities to the home by 2025 without a reduction in quality or access.
- Faced with higher costs of living crisis, households can employ smart home solutions to become more resilient and cut costs. The example of energy shows how households adopted smart home solutions such as solar panels, energy management systems, and heat pumps, to lower their cost of living. More saving opportunities are emerging in other areas of our daily lives as the gap between in-home and out-of-home experiences becomes easier to bridge.
- The Internet of Things is becoming increasingly popular, since the data collected by connected objects can now be supplied in real time to artificial intelligence software. This is why the big tech companies (such as Alphabet, Microsoft, Apple and Amazon) are investing heavily in this sector.

Space

This market background summary covers VanEck Space Innovators UCITS ETF.

- For the period from 1 January 2024 to 30 June 2024 VanEck Space Innovators UCITS ETF returned -6.21%.
- The US aerospace and defense market is expected to grow from USD 416.63 billion in 2020 to USD 550.78 billion by 2030.
- A technology shift is simplifying access to space, shrinking the cost of reaching the stars. VanEck's Space ETF tracks the progress of the innovative companies developing tomorrow's equipment, disrupting established operators, shaping the commercial space age.
- The race for space continues, and emerging countries are determined to play their part. Branson's Virgin Galactic has been flying regular commercial flights in 2023. NASA's Artemis 1 uncrewed Moon-orbiting mission marked the agency's return to lunar exploration. Musk's SpaceX company has continued testing its large Starship rocket, designed for human spaceflight. And India has landed a spacecraft on the Moon for the first time.
- The Artemis 2 project is due to fly four astronauts past the Moon in 2024: the first crewed flight to the planet since the Apollo 17 mission in 1972. Artemis eventually plans to build a permanent Moon base as a possible prequel for colonizing Mars. Other space stations are planned, some with commercial uses, and China has ambitious plans to use its Tiangong station to further its space ambitions.

Future of Food

This market background summary covers VanEck Sustainable Future of Food UCITS ETF.

- For the period from 1 January 2024 to 30 June 2024, VanEck Sustainable Future of Food UCITS ETF returned 7.17%.
- The agri-food industry's level of impact on the environment is dwarfed by other measures, such as the use of fresh water, deforestation levels and biodiversity. With environmental limits already straining the traditional agriculture supply chain, feeding an ever-growing population presents a unique challenge. Going forward, we expect increasing demand for cleaner, healthier, and more environmentally sustainable foods will continue to create growth opportunities.

 The global food crisis that is inundating countries around the world is becoming more glaring, possibly catastrophic and likely longer lasting. Sharp rise in food price that we saw in 2022 made many consumers switch to more basic and conventional products instead of focusing on sustainable consumption habits. While the situation is normalizing, we expect consumers to shift their habits long-term towards more sustainable and plant-based alternatives.

Genomics and Healthcare Innovators

This market background summary covers VanEck Genomics and Healthcare Innovators UCITS ETF.

- For the period from 1 January 2024 to 30 June 2024, VanEck Genomics and Healthcare Innovators UCITS ETF returned -3.78%.
- VanEck's Genomics ETF invests in the innovative companies harnessing scientific advances to develop breakthrough treatments and give patients more control over how they access care.
- The healthcare market in America alone consumes 18% of GDP, equivalent to $3.6trn a year. In other wealthy countries, the share is lower, around 10%, but it is increasing as populations age. Just as science is developing new gene therapies, so too the pandemic has made people comfortable with digitally-mediated care.

Circular Economy

This market background summary covers VanEck Circular Economy UCITS ETF.

- For the period from 1 January 2024 to 30 June 2024, VanEck Circular Economy UCITS ETF returned 4.74%.
- The VanEck Circular Economy UCITS ETF invests in companies involved in a new economic model that is expanding rapidly. Circular economy is a model of production and consumption which involves sharing, leasing, reusing, repairing, refurbishing and recycling existing materials and products in order to extend their lifecycle as long as possible. These companies are at the forefront of the recycling and reuse-related solutions, opposed to the traditional take-make-waste economy.
- This new economic model not only entails environmental benefits but also tangible economic advantages. As an example, it is estimated that recycled aluminium and copper require 95% and 85% less energy respectively, compared to primary material production.
- As the world gradually transitions towards a carbon-free economy, waste management, recycling and reuse solutions are set to be on the rise. We expect the companies actively involved in this thematic to benefit from this development.

Bionic Engineering

This market background summary covers VanEck Bionic Engineering UCITS ETF.

- For the period from 1 January 2024 to 30 June 2024, VanEck Bionic Engineering UCITS ETF returned 4.21%.
- As the global population ages, so does the demand for biologically-inspired systems that improve the quality of later life. VanEck's Bionic Engineering ETF tracks the performance of the portfolio of innovative companies delivering medical, dental or vision-related implants, bioprinting, prosthesis, or preservation of organs and tissue.

Uranium and Nuclear Technologies

This market background summary covers VanEck Uranium and Nuclear Technologies UCITS ETF.

- For the period from 1 January 2024 to 30 June 2024, VanEck Uranium and Nuclear Technologies UCITS ETF returned 15.76%.
- Uranium spot prices retreated from the year-end highs of ~100 $/lbs, however the long-term Uranium price grew ~17% during the same time span.
- As the global demand for electricity continues to rise, the need for clean and reliable sources of energy becomes increasingly important. Nuclear energy, with its low carbon emissions and high efficiency, is a vital part of the sustainable energy mix.
- While China and, to a lesser degree, India lead the world in new Nuclear Plant construction, developed markets, especially in Europe, provided another tailwind to the industry by extending lifetime of the existing plans en masse. In Europe, out of the 109 currently functioning reactors, 75 were allowed to extend their lifetime, following a stringent certification process.

Defense

This market background summary covers VanEck Defense UCITS ETF.

- For the period from 1 January 2024 to 30 June 2024, VanEck Defense UCITS ETF returned 22.53%.
- With increasing geopolitical tensions and a rising focus on national security, global defense spending continues to climb. Many NATO countries are meeting or exceeding the 2% of GDP guideline, which is expected to drive average NATO spending up by 21% in the near future.
- Public sentiment toward investing in defense has evolved, reflecting increasing awareness of geopolitical risks and the role of defence technologies in addressing global security challenges. This changing perception may influence investor sentiment and contribute to growing interest in defencefocused investments like the VanEck Defense UCITS ETF.
- If Trump wins the elections in November, there is a fair chance that the 2% GDP expenditure requirement on defense among NATO countries may be adjusted upwards. This could lead to increased defense budgets across member states, potentially benefiting companies within the VanEck Defense UCITS ETF through higher contract awards and procurement opportunities.

Defense (continued)

- Investments in advanced defense technologies continue to rise, with sectors such as cybersecurity and unmanned systems seeing substantial growth. SIPRI reports indicate significant procurement and R&D investments aimed at enhancing military capabilities, particularly in cybersecurity solutions and autonomous platforms.
- Continuous war in Ukraine and the Gaza region brings more and more contracts to defense companies across the globe in order to supply the militaries with defensive machines from one side and to modernize armies, long neglected by the feeling of peace.
- Multiple long-term drivers that increase geo-political tensions which consequently create the necessity for increased military spending: Russia-NATO tensions, growing number of cyberattacks, US-China strategic competition, climate risk, potential future pandemics and record levels of sovereign debt.

Oil Services

This market background summary covers VanEck Oil Services UCITS ETF.

- For the period from 1 January 2024 to 30 June 2024, VanEck Oil Services UCITS ETF returned 3.35%.
- Oil services companies included in the ETF are positively correlated with oil, which represented historically a hedge for inflation. Moreover, they possess pricing power over the downstream players in the sector, thus being able to contrast well periods of widespread price increases. Although in fact inflation is coming down, there are forces on a global scale that could make it stickier than expected.
  An exposure to the upstream oil services sector could help in such a dynamic.
- Oil consumption has challenging outlook, while supply outlook will likely see downward adjustments: OPEC continues to struggle in an oversupplied market, as highlighted in its June 2 meeting. The organization extended three production cuts totaling 5.86 million barrels per day. The cuts include a 2 million barrels per day groupwide cut and a 1.7 million barrels per day voluntary cut, both extended to the end of 2025, and a second 2.2 million barrels per day voluntary cut, extended for another quarter beyond its initial June expiry.
- Escalating geopolitical tensions in the Middle East, home to a vast majority of global oil reserves, despite ongoing cease-fire negotiations, continue to support upward price movements. However, recent statements of US President Joe Biden indicating that he is determined to broker an end to Israel's ongoing war on the besieged Gaza Strip limited further price rises by easing market players' supply concerns.
- Often overlooked, oil services companies are helping the gas & oil industry decarbonize and become gradually more sustainable. A growing part of their services portfolio is represented

This market background summary covers VanEck US Fallen Angel High Yield Bond UCITS ETF.

- From its launch on from 1 January 2024 to 30 June 2024, VanEck US Fallen Angel High Yield Bond UCITS ETF returned 1.01%.

Important information on performance (continued)

Past performance is not a guarantee of future results. Performance information for the sub-fund is net of expenses and/or fees. These returns do not reflect the deduction of taxes that a shareholder would pay on the sale of sub-fund shares.

Investment return and value of the shares of the sub-fund will fluctuate so that an investor's shares, when sold, may be worth more or less than their original cost. Performance may be lower or higher than performance data guoted.

The "Net Asset Value" (NAV) of a VanEck UCITS ETFs Plc sub-fund is determined at the close of each business day, and represents the dollar value of one share of the sub-fund; it is calculated by taking the total assets of the sub-fund, subtracting total liabilities, and dividing by the total number of shares outstanding. The NAV is not necessarily the same as the ETF's intraday trading value.

Index returns assume the reinvestment of all income and do not reflect any management fees or brokerage expenses associated with sub-fund returns. Investors cannot invest directly in the Index. Returns for actual sub-fund investors may differ from what is shown because of differences in timing, the amount invested and fees and expenses.

Tracking Error

The realised tracking error is the annualised standard deviation of the difference in daily returns between a sub-fund and its index. Tracking error shows the consistency of the returns relative to the index over the defined period of time.

Anticipated tracking error is based on the annualised standard deviation of the difference in daily returns between a sub-fund and its index under normal market conditions.

Cash management, efficient portfolio management techniques including securities lending, transaction costs from rebalancing and currency hedging can have an impact on tracking error as well as the return differential between the cash component of the sub-fund. Importantly, these impacts can be either positive or negative depending on the underlying circumstances.

In addition to the above, the sub-funds may also have a tracking error due to withholding tax charged to the sub-funds on any income received from its investments. The level of tracking error arising due to withholding taxes depends on various factors such as any reclaims filed by the sub-funds with various tax authorities, any benefits obtained by the sub-funds under a tax treaty or any securities lending activities carried out by the sub-funds.

6. Financial Assets and Financial Liabilities at Fair Value through Profit or Loss

IFRS 13 'Fair Value Measurement' requires disclosure relating to the fair value hierarchy in which fair value measurements are categorised for assets and liabilities in the Condensed Statement of Financial Position.

The disclosures are based on a three-level fair value hierarchy for the inputs used in valuation techniques to measure fair value. The fair value of financial assets and financial liabilities traded in an active market (such as trading securities) are based on quoted market prices at the close of trading on the reporting date.

The quoted market price used for financial assets held by the sub-funds is the current bid price; the appropriate quoted market price for financial liabilities is the last traded price.

A financial instrument is regarded as quoted in an active market if the quoted prices are readily and regularly available from an exchange, dealer, broker, industry group, pricing service, or regulatory agency, and those prices represent actual and regularly occurring market transactions on an arm's length basis.

The fair value of financial assets and financial liabilities that are not traded in an active market is determined by using valuation techniques. The Company uses a variety of methods and makes assumptions that are based on market conditions existing at the reporting date.

The fair value hierarchy has the following levels:

- · Quoted prices (unadjusted) in active markets for identical assets or liabilities (Level 1).
- Inputs other than quoted prices included within Level 1 that are observable for the asset or liability, either directly (that is, as prices) or indirectly (that is, derived from prices) (Level 2).
- Inputs for the asset or liability that are not based on observable market data (that is, unobservable inputs) (Level 3).

The fair values of the investments for the below sub-funds are based on quoted prices in active markets, the sub-funds' financial assets measured at fair value are considered Level 1 for the financial period ended 30 June 2024 and financial year ended 31 December 2023:

7. Efficient Portfolio Management

The Company may, on behalf of each sub-fund and subject to the conditions and within the limits laid down by the Central Bank of Ireland, employ techniques and instruments relating to transferable securities for efficient portfolio management purposes.

Transactions for the purposes of efficient portfolio management may be undertaken with a view to achieving a reduction in risk, a reduction in costs or an increase in capital or income returns to a sub-fund and may not be speculative in nature.

The sub-funds may invest in financial derivative instruments ("FDI") for efficient portfolio management or hedging purposes. The sub-funds may use futures, swaps and currency forwards for the purpose of reducing risk associated with currency exposures within the sub-fund. These techniques and instruments may include investments into hedging transactions on currencies to protect against a decline in the value of investments denominated in currencies other than USD, and against any increase in the cost of investments denominated in currencies other than USD. The sub-funds employ the commitment approach to assess the global exposure and to ensure that the sub-fund's use of derivative instruments is in accordance with the requirements of the Central Bank of Ireland.

Forward foreign currency contracts can be used to hedge out unwanted currency exposures and to limit the sub-funds exposure to anticipated changes in exchange rates. There are no forward foreign currency contracts held at the financial period ended 30 June 2024 and the financial year ended 31 December 2023.

The sub-funds may enter into stock lending, repurchase and/or reverse repurchase agreements for the purposes of efficient portfolio management in accordance with the provisions of the Central Bank UCITS Regulations. The sub-funds did not enter into such agreements during the financial period ended 30 June 2024 or the financial year ended 31 December 2023.

8. Taxation

Under current law and practice the Company qualifies as an investment undertaking as defined in Section 739B of the Taxes Consolidation Act, 1997, as amended. On this basis, it is generally not chargeable to Irish tax on its income or gains.

However, Irish tax can arise on the happening of a "chargeable event" in the Company. A chargeable event includes any payments of distributions to shareholders, any encashment, repurchase, redemption, cancellation or transfer of shares and any deemed disposal of shares as described below for Irish tax purposes arising as a result of holding shares in the Company for a period of eight years or more. Where a chargeable event occurs, the Company is required to account for the Irish tax thereon.

No Irish tax will arise on the Company in respect of chargeable events where:

- a) certain exempted Irish resident investors who have provided the Company with the necessary signed statutory declarations; or
- b) any transactions in relation to shares held in a recognised clearing system as designated by order of the Revenue Commissioners of Ireland: or
- c) an exchange of shares representing one sub-fund for another sub-fund of the Company; or
- d) an exchange of shares arising on a qualifying amalgamation or reconstruction of the Company with another company; or
- e) certain exchanges of shares between spouses and former spouses.

In the absence of an appropriate declaration, the Company will be liable to Irish tax on the occurrence of a chargeable event. There were no chargeable events during the financial period under review. Dividends, interest and capital gains (if any) received on investments made by the Company may be subject to withholding taxes imposed by the country of origin and such taxes may not be recoverable by the Company or its shareholders.

As between shareholders, each portfolio of assets is invested for the exclusive benefit of the relevant sub-fund. The shareholders are only entitled to the assets and profits of that sub-fund in which they participate. The Company is considered one single legal entity. With regard to third parties, in particular towards the Company's creditors, the Company is responsible for all liabilities incurred by a sub-fund exclusively based on the assets of this relevant sub-fund. Among the shareholders, the liabilities of each sub-fund shall only be incurred to the sub-fund.

While the provisions of the Companies Act provide for segregated liability between sub-funds, these provisions have yet to be tested in foreign courts, in particular, in satisfying local creditors' claims.

A Global Depositary Receipt (GDR) is very similar to an American depositary receipt or an ADR. It is a type of bank certificate that represents shares in a foreign company, such that a foreign branch of an international bank then holds the shares. The shares themselves trade as domestic shares, but globally, various bank branches offer the shares for sale.
