MARKET REPORT

Gold Miners

This market background summary covers VanEck Gold Miners UCITS ETF and VanEck Junior Gold Miners UCITS ETF.

- For the period from 1 January 2022 to 30 June 2022, VanEck Gold Miners UCITS ETF returned -14.00% and VanEck Junior Gold Miners UCITS ETF returned -23.28%.
- This year Gold has touched on its all-time high of $2,075 per ounce driven by the war in Ukraine.
- Gold prices averaged around $1,837.20 per ounce in June, trading as high as $1,871.60 on 10 June before closing at its monthly low of $1,807.27 on 30 June (a 1.64% loss for the period). Inflation, the U.S. Federal Reserve Bank (the "Fed") and gold were central figures in June's macroeconomic story, as the tug of war between all three remains contentious, yet balanced. Year-to-date, gold stood firmly, generating losses of only -1.2%.
- At $1,800, most of the "gold negative" news (higher rates, strong dollar and stable economy, under control inflation) appeared to be priced-in, and allowed gold to form a new and stronger price base around this level.
- One factor that affected performance was the broader equity markets sharp selloff, which has also dragged down gold stocks. The first quarter earnings reports for the gold miners were generally below expectations, with cost inflation and COVID-related interruptions negatively affecting results. Higher operating costs impacted margins.
- As fewer junior developers have been acquired, more have advanced their properties to production.

Morningstar US Sustainable Wide Moat

This market background summary covers VanEck Morningstar US Sustainable Wide Moat UCITS ETF.

- For the period from 1 January 2022 to 30 June 2022, VanEck Morningstar US Sustainable Wide Moat UCITS ETF returned -20.83%.
- VanEck Morningstar US Sustainable Wide Moat UCITS ETF seeks to replicate as closely as possible, before fees and expenses, the price and yield performance of the Morningstar US Sustainable Moat Focus Index TM (the Moat Index). The index targets U.S. companies with sustainable competitive advantages, i.e., "moats," and attractive valuations in the view of Morningstar's team of more than 100 equity analysts, subject to ESG screening based on Sustainalytics data.
- According to the forward-looking process of Morningstar's Equity Research group, companies with moats have the potential to create above-average returns for longer periods of time. The index's approach to investing in U.S. companies with wide economic moats when they are attractively priced has resulted in long-term outperformance versus the broad U.S. equity market.
- In 1H2022 Moat Index saw increased exposure to financials as a result of interest rates hikes expectations.

Morningstar Global Wide Moat

This market background summary covers VanEck Morningstar Global Wide Moat UCITS ETF.

- For the period from 1 January 2022 to 30 June 2022, VanEck Morningstar Global Wide Moat UCITS ETF returned -14.79%.
- VanEck Morningstar Global Wide Moat UCITS ETF provides exposure to global firms with Morningstar Economic Moat Ratings that are trading at the lowest current market price/fair value ratios.

Emerging Markets Government Debt

This market background summary covers VanEck J.P. Morgan EM Local Currency Bond UCITS ETF (EMFX).

- For the period from 1 January 2022 to 30 June 2022, VanEck J.P. Morgan EM Local Currency Bond UCITS ETF returned -12.96%.
- Within emerging markets debt, local currency bonds have historically provided the greatest diversification benefit compared to U.S. dollar-denominated emerging markets sovereign or corporate bonds, as measured by the segment's relatively low correlation to other asset classes.
- Continued inflationary pressures may benefit commodity sensitive currencies – the currencies of Uruguay, Brazil, and Peru have significantly appreciated this year.
- Many EM central banks were well ahead of the Fed in hiking rates over the past two years and maintain a hawkish bias to keep inflation in check, while also providing room to ease if needed (as is the case in China). The result has been both higher yields and positive real rates, which provides support to local currencies. Longer term, EMFX remains at depressed valuations on a historical basis.

Emerging Markets Corporate Debt

This market background summary covers VanEck Emerging Markets High Yield Bond UCITS ETF (HYEM).

- For the period from 2 January 2022 to 30 June 2022, VanEck Emerging Markets High Yield Bond UCITS ETF returned -17.05%.
- Unlike U.S. high yield credit spreads, which remain below long-term historical averages, EM high yield corporate spreads are now above the average since 2005, remaining attractive from a historical perspective.
- EM high yield corporate bonds may benefit from elevated global inflation, with high exposure to sectors such as Energy (19%) and Basic Industry (14%). Currency depreciation in some emerging markets may benefit exporters in those countries; approximately 70% of HYEM's portfolio is exposed to issuers based in countries with depreciating currencies this year, and 40% of them are large exporting economies or exports-dependent.

Fallen Angels

This market background summary covers VanEck Global Fallen Angel High Yield Bond UCITS ETF.

- For the period from 1 January 2022 to 30 June 2022, VanEck Global Fallen Angel High Yield Bond UCITS ETF returned -16.84%.
- Fallen angel bonds are part of the overall high yield universe but unique in that they were originally issued with investment grade ratings and later downgraded to non-investment grade, or high yield. This results in differentiating characteristics versus the broader high yield bond market—such as, a higher average credit quality—and the crossover from investment grade to high yield markets is where the value proposition of fallen angels originates.
- Overall yield of the ETF's underlying index as of 30 June 2022 was 7.56%, significantly higher than 3.68% at the beginning of the year.
- The Option-Adjusted Spreads widened significantly, reflecting market sentiment on worsening economic conditions and inflationary pressures. Despite that, the Global Fallen Angel universe size shrunk by -16% since the beginning of the year.

Esports and Video Gaming

This market background summary covers VanEck Video Gaming and eSports UCITS ETF.

- For the period from 1 January 2022 to 30 June 2022, VanEck Video Gaming and eSports UCITS ETF returned -28.49%.
- Mobile gaming continues to dominate industry revenues and provide the most growth by segment (compared to PC and console). This is further boosted by increasing internet connectivity, the development of high bandwidth network such as 5G and rising adoption of smartphones worldwide.
- A revolution of the revenue model is under way with “game as a service” replacing “game as a product”. Revenues generated under this model are known as recurrent consumer spending and substitute a single revenue-generating fee. Consumers don't carry out anymore a single initial purchase to buy the product but instead engage in more frequent spending over time.
- The Play to Earn trend (P2E) is on the rise with gamers who have the chance to earn cash, prizes and digital assets by playing and participating in various games. It is an entirely new gaming business model where economic benefits flow not only in the direction of publishers but also gamers. This development is strongly connected to the Blockchain as the game assets that serve as rewards are often in the form of NFTs. We believe P2E built upon the blockchain will play a meaningful role in the future of video gaming.
- We currently see a slow-down in sales as the industry braces for a recession. In fact, after growing for many consecutive years and getting a boost from the Covid-19 pandemic, first numbers display that the gaming industry is not recession proof. Among others, also Russia's invasion of Ukraine and supply chain bottlenecks worsened the outlook. However, we believe supportive long-term trends are still well in place around consumer demand for interactive digital entertainment and demographics.

Semiconductor

This market background summary covers VanEck Semiconductor UCITS ETF.

- For the period from 1 January 2022 to 30 June 2022, VanEck Semiconductor UCITS ETF returned -34.54%.
- Despite continuing lockdowns in China and related supply shortages, the broad Semiconductor market was hit amid worsening economic conditions.
- Chip supply became a major national security topic during 1H2022 with multiple countries announcing measures to woo chip manufacturing facilities.

Hydrogen

This market background summary covers VanEck Hydrogen Economy UCITS ETF.

- For the period from 1 January 2022 to 30 June 2022, VanEck Hydrogen Economy UCITS ETF returned -35.79%.
- Hydrogen is the simplest energy dense element that if burned for fuel only, produces water as its byproduct. A fuel cell combines hydrogen and oxygen to produce energy. The challenge has been in producing hydrogen fuel cells at a scale. Falling costs of production along with government and corporate interest alike is supportive of this nascent technology.
- Hydrogen Stocks have fallen significantly in price, along with the wider tech market in the first half year.
- The climate change crisis and Russia's invasion of Ukraine were factors pushing green hydrogen to the mainstream.

Digital Assets

This market background summary covers VanEck Crypto and Blockchain Innovators UCITS ETF.

- For the period from 1 January 2022 to 30 June 2022, VanEck Crypto and Blockchain Innovators UCITS ETF returned -76.73%.
- Digital transformation companies engage in a wide variety of business lines within the broader ecosystem such as: payment gateways, hardware, crypto miners, exchanges, crypto holding and trading, software and value added services, banking and asset management.
- Despite the recent negative performances of crypto assets, digital assets usage and implementation – including cryptocurrencies and decentralized applications – are projected to grow as global adoption continues according to our studies. Especially Bitcoin adoption keeps being on the rise with an increasing number of active addresses and some countries declaring it as legal tender, which can contribute to further boost the crypto ecosystem development.

Rare Earth

This market background summary covers VanEck Rare Earth and Strategic Metals UCITS ETF.

- For the period from 1 January 2022 to 30 June 2022, VanEck Rare Earth and Strategic Metals UCITS ETF returned -22.48%.
- Rare earths access and availability continues to be a hot topic worldwide: in fact, these 17 metal elements keep being necessary for technological developments and key advancements across various sectors. From computers and batteries to defense systems and monitors they are of vital importance. Over the first half of the year the worsening tensions between the US, China and Russia, as well as talks of a deglobalisation process being well under way, have further contributed to bring under the spotlight rare earths.
- China keeps producing almost the entire annual amount of extracted rare earths, with the sector assuming almost the characteristics of a monopoly. On the fear of deteriorating relationships with China, the US department of defense carried out consistent investments over the first half of the year to strengthen their position. It is very recent the news of an important deal with the listed Australian company Lynas Rare Earths to build one of the first US rare earths facilities.
- VanEck Rare Earth and Strategic Metals ETF had over the mentioned period a negative performance. Elements that played a role, thus contributing to the negative result, have been the high multiples of rare earths stocks as well as an investment style more oriented at growth firms.
- Despite the recent negative performance of rare earths extraction companies, we remain positive on the outlook for these strategic elements. In particular, we believe that they will play a vital role in the green transition whose pace has been accelerating over the last months because of multiple factors. One of the most meaningful is the outbreak of the war in Eastern Europe. Rare earths are in fact relevant for electric vehicles and wind turbines, just to mention a couple, and thus will be relevant in the decarbonisation process that is taking place worldwide.
- Out-performance versus the Index and higher tracking error were caused by AVZ Minerals being halted because of an ownership dispute relating to the Manono Lithium Project.

New China

This market background summary covers VanEck New China ESG UCITS ETF.

- For the period from 1 January 2022 to 30 June 2022, VanEck New China ESG UCITS ETF returned -16.04%.

- China keeps being on the way of a structural change that sees consumer-oriented sectors replacing heavy industries. Factors contributing to this shift are a growing middle class, further technological developments, an aging population and a particularly high number of millennials in the country.
- The transition towards a new economic model keeps being under way: the sectors shaping the Chinese economy include healthcare, consumer staples and discretionary as well as technology.
- VanEck New China ESG UCITS ETF had a negative performance over the first half of the year. The growing geopolitical tensions with the western world as well as the impact of strict Covid lockdowns that were imposed in the country weighted on Chinese equities. The former were worsened by the outbreak of the war in Ukraine as well as talks and signals of a Chinese invasion of Taiwan. The latter caused significant economic damages with growth slowing significantly down.

Smart Home

This market background summary covers VanEck Smart Home Active UCITS ETF.

- For the period from 1 January 2022 to 30 June 2022, VanEck Smart Home Active UCITS ETF returned -37.47%.
- In a February 2022 report, McKinsey estimated that up to $265 billion worth of medical services (representing up to 25% of the total cost of care) could shift from traditional facilities to the home by 2025 without a reduction in quality or access.

Space

This market background summary covers VanEck Space Innovators UCITS ETF.

- For the period from 24 June 2022 to 30 June 2022, VanEck Space Innovators UCITS ETF returned -1.74%.
- A technology shift is simplifying access to space, shrinking the cost of reaching the stars. VanEck's Space ETF tracks the progress of the innovative companies developing tomorrow's equipment, disrupting established operators, shaping the commercial space age.

Future of Food

This market background summary covers VanEck Sustainable Future of Food UCITS ETF.

- For the period from 24 June 2022 to 30 June 2022, VanEck Sustainable Future of Food UCITS ETF returned -1.17%.
- The agri-food industry's level of impact on the environment is dwarfed by other measures, such as the use of fresh water, deforestation levels and biodiversity. With environmental limits already straining the traditional agriculture supply chain, feeding an ever-growing population presents a unique challenge. Going forward, we expect increasing demand for cleaner, healthier, and more environmentally sustainable foods will continue to create growth opportunities.
- The global food crisis that is inundating countries around the world is becoming more glaring, possibly catastrophic and likely longer lasting. The fact that this is an indiscriminate phenomenon is written largely in the recent U.S. inflation figures. The U.S. headline Consumer Price Index (CPI) hit a four-decade-high rate of 8.6% year-over-year in May, partly driven by sharp increases in food and grocery prices, which were up 11.9% (the highest increase since 1979). While Russia's invasion of Ukraine has greatly conflagrated the current situation, food prices worldwide have been moving up for a number of years. The United Nation's Food and Agriculture Organization (U.N. FAO) Food Price Index increased 71% from January 2016 to May 2022, surpassing previous highs last seen in 2011.

Important information on performance

The performance data quoted represents past performance. All sub-fund and Index performances are calculated in USD.

Past performance is not a guarantee of future results. Performance information for the sub-fund is net of expenses and/or fees. These returns do not reflect the deduction of taxes that a shareholder would pay on the sale of Fund shares.

Investment return and value of the shares of the Fund will fluctuate so that an investor's shares, when sold, may be worth more or less than their original cost. Performance may be lower or higher than performance data quoted.

The "Net Asset Value" (NAV) of a VanEck UCITS ETFs Plc sub-fund is determined at the close of each business day, and represents the dollar value of one share of the fund; it is calculated by taking the total assets of the fund, subtracting total liabilities, and dividing by the total number of shares outstanding. The NAV is not necessarily the same as the ETF's intraday trading value.

Index returns assume the reinvestment of all income and do not reflect any management fees or brokerage expenses associated with Fund returns. Investors cannot invest directly in the Index. Returns for actual Fund investors may differ from what is shown because of differences in timing, the amount invested and fees and expenses.

Tracking Error

The realised tracking error is the annualised standard deviation of the difference in daily returns between a Fund and its index. Tracking error shows the consistency of the returns relative to the index over the defined period of time.

Anticipated tracking error is based on the annualised standard deviation of the difference in daily returns between a Fund and its index under normal market conditions.

Cash management, efficient portfolio management techniques including securities lending, transaction costs from rebalancing and currency hedging can have an impact on tracking error as well as the return differential between the cash component of the fund. Importantly, these impacts can be either positive or negative depending on the underlying circumstances.

In addition to the above, the Funds may also have a tracking error due to withholding tax charged to the Funds on any income received from its investments. The level of tracking error arising due to withholding taxes depends on various factors such as any reclaims filed by the Funds with various tax authorities, any benefits obtained by the Funds under a tax treaty or any securities lending activities carried out by the Funds.

The table below shows the anticipated annual tracking error of the Funds against the realised tracking error of the Funds. Realised tracking error is an annualized figure calculated using data from the preceding 12 months observation period.

6. Financial Assets and Financial Liabilities at Fair Value through Profit or Loss

IFRS 13 'Fair Value Measurement' requires disclosure relating to the fair value hierarchy in which fair value measurements are categorised for assets and liabilities in the Condensed Statement of Financial Position.

The disclosures are based on a three-level fair value hierarchy for the inputs used in valuation techniques to measure fair value. The fair value of financial assets and financial liabilities traded in an active market (such as trading securities) are based on quoted market prices at the close of trading on the reporting date.

The quoted market price used for financial assets held by the sub-funds is the current bid price; the appropriate quoted market price for financial liabilities is the last traded price.

A financial instrument is regarded as quoted in an active market if the quoted prices are readily and regularly available from an exchange, dealer, broker, industry group, pricing service, or regulatory agency, and those prices represent actual and regularly occurring market transactions on an arm's length basis.

6. Financial Assets and Financial Liabilities at Fair Value through Profit or Loss (continued)

The fair value of financial assets and financial liabilities that are not traded in an active market is determined by using valuation techniques. The Company uses a variety of methods and makes assumptions that are based on market conditions existing at the reporting date. The fair value hierarchy has the following levels:

- Quoted prices (unadjusted) in active markets for identical assets or liabilities (Level 1).
- Inputs other than quoted prices included within Level 1 that are observable for the asset or liability, either directly (that is, as prices) or indirectly (that is, derived from prices) (Level 2).
- Inputs for the asset or liability that are not based on observable market data (that is, unobservable inputs) (Level 3).

As the fair values of the investments for VanEck Junior Gold Miners UCITS ETF, VanEck Gold Miners UCITS ETF, VanEck Morningstar Global Wide Moat UCITS ETF, VanEck Morningstar US Sustainable Wide Moat UCITS ETF, VanEck Global Mining UCITS ETF, VanEck Video Gaming and eSports UCITS ETF, VanEck Semiconductor UCITS ETF, VanEck Hydrogen Economy UCITS ETF, VanEck Digital Assets Equity UCITS ETF, VanEck Rare Earth and Strategic Metals UCITS ETF, VanEck New China ESG UCITS ETF, VanEck Smart Home Active UCITS ETF, VanEck Space Innovators UCITS ETF and VanEck Sustainable Future of Food UCITS ETF are based on quoted prices in active markets, the sub-funds' financial assets measured at fair value are considered Level 1 for the financial period ended 30 June 2022 and financial year ended 31 December 2021.

As the fair values of the investments for VanEck J.P. Morgan EM Local Currency Bond UCITS ETF, VanEck Global Fallen Angels High Yield Bond UCITS ETF and VanEck Emerging Markets High Yield Bond UCITS ETF are based on inputs other than quoted prices, the sub-funds' financial assets are considered Level 2 for the financial period ended 30 June 2022 and financial year ended 31 December 2021.

There was one Level 3 security Firefinch Ltd with fair value of USD772,255 for the financial period ended 30 June 2022 for VanEck Junior Gold Miners UCITS ETF. There was one Level 3 security AVZ Minerals Ltd with fair value of USD323,751 for the financial period ended 30 June 2022 for VanEck Global Mining UCITS ETF and fair value of USD3,136,217 for the financial period ended 30 June 2022 for VanEck Rare Earth and Strategic Metals UCITS ETF. There were no Level 3 securities for the financial year ended 31 December 2021.

The Company's assets and liabilities (by class) not measured at fair value at financial period ended 30 June 2022 or financial year ended 31 December 2021 but for which fair value is disclosed within the fair value hierarchy are considered Level 2, except for cash and cash equivalents, which are considered Level 1.

7. Efficient Portfolio Management

The Company may, on behalf of each sub-fund and subject to the conditions and within the limits laid down by the Central Bank of Ireland, employ techniques and instruments relating to transferable securities for efficient portfolio management purposes. Transactions for the purposes of efficient portfolio management may be undertaken with a view to achieving a reduction in risk, a reduction in costs or an increase in capital or income returns to a sub-fund and may not be speculative in nature.

The sub-funds may invest in financial derivative instruments ("FDI") for efficient portfolio management or hedging purposes. The sub-funds may use futures, swaps and currency forwards for the purpose of reducing risk associated with currency exposures within the sub-fund. These techniques and instruments may include investments into hedging transactions on currencies to protect against a decline in the value of investments denominated in currencies other than USD, and against any increase in the cost of investments denominated in currencies other than USD. The sub-funds employ the commitment approach to assess the global exposure and to ensure that the sub-fund's use of derivative instruments is in accordance with the requirements of the Central Bank of Ireland.

An American Depositary Receipt (ADR) is a stock that trades in the United States but represents a specified number of shares in a foreign corporation. ADRs are bought and sold on American markets just like regular stocks, and are issued/sponsored in the U.S. by a bank or brokerage.

A Global Depositary Receipt (GDR) is very similar to an American depositary receipt or an ADR. It is a type of bank certificate that represents shares in a foreign company, such that a foreign branch of an international bank then holds the shares. The shares themselves trade as domestic shares, but globally, various bank branches offer the shares for sale.
